SUBJECT: Weekly Activities Report No. 26
15 - 22 November 1965

I. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS

None to report.

II. OTHER ACTIVITIES

1. John Keppel presented a new course last week at FSI entitled Seminar on Communism. I am enclosing the schedule as a matter of possible interest to you. I chided Keppel a bit for having loaded the week with so many academicians, and he freely admitted that he had done so in order to lend the course sufficient prestige to attract the attention of FSOs. It worked -- he had about twenty students from the Department -- which is most unusual.

2. [redacted] has used [redacted] in the past two sessions of the China Fam course, and has been highly impressed with his presentation. [redacted] has suggested that we use him in the CT program. The proposal has been cleared with [redacted] and a request for approval directed to the Security Officer.

3. Mrs. Neuhart has followed up our phone conversation with a year's schedule of her Orientation Course in which she proposes that I commit myself for every month during '66. I'm going to subject this proposal to further negotiation -- preferring not to make a long-range commitment until I've had at least one go at it.

5. [] informs me that the [] film has turned out to be excellent. He was particularly impressed by the way in which the young man who introduced the [] came through -- and has suggested that I pass along the proposal that this individual -- instead of retiring to the country -- develop a new career doing TV commercials.

DAILY CLASS SCHEDULE

SEMINAR ON COMMUNISM

November 15 - 19, 1965

Room 2116, Foreign Service Institute, Arlington Towers

The "Seminar on Communism" is a one-week series of lectures and discussions mainly for selected mid-level Foreign Service Officers. Present and developing relationships between international Communist and national factors in both the Communist states and in less developed non-Communist countries will be examined. Among aspects to be examined are also (1) the relative capabilities of the major powers, both Communist and non-Communist, to influence the less developed countries and (2) world population, food and urbanization trends as factors likely to affect the political stability of the less developed countries and their relationships to the major powers.
