MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Training

SUBJECT: Weekly Report #20: Defense Intelligence School (DIS)
26 July - 30 July 1965

25X1

1. [redacted] held a staff meeting last Tuesday. It was the first such since early June, but it hit at more productive things than the weekly sessions which I had attended in prior months. Among the topics discussed were:

25X1

a. Non-Resident Instruction. In its first year of operation, with an extremely small complement of workers, a non-resident course of twelve units was developed and about 350 persons were enrolled. Of the latter, approximately 225 remained in active status and four have just completed the entire program. Inasmuch as the correspondence course purportedly parallels the 34-week Defense Intelligence Course, the fact of any graduates in the year of course development seems singularly indicative of a successful enterprise. [redacted] has volunteered to enroll in the program; presumably he will be the first reservist from the Agency to do so. The need to up-date the correspondence units as the DIS course is revised was also recognized and some points of coordination were established.

25X1

b. Orientation Courses. Some discussion ensued on the DIS charter as it pertains to orientation courses. The course chief's willingness to accept all DIA nominees for the recent orientation course didn't set well with [redacted] he holds a rather firm opinion that officers and clerical employees need a different "orientation" and as a consequence should be grouped in separate classes.

c. Quotas for the Advanced Intelligence Course. Somewhere in the DIA hierarchy, it was decided that the six slots for non-DOD should be allocated two each to CIA and NSA and one each to State and Coast Guard. State seems disinterested; Coast Guard appears to alternately report that it will or will not fill its quota; NSA wants four slots. From this up-and-downness, [redacted] has announced that DIS will willingly accept three from CIA even though the invitation specified two slots.

d. Requests for Guest Speakers. [redacted] has been assigned the role of Chief, Plans and Evaluation Group at DIS and has now effected some joint classes to reduce calls on guest speakers for orientation or introductory-type lectures. In the opening week of instruction in September, the Attaché and Advanced Intelligence classes will be combined for at least three lectures. Mr. Dulles has been requested for the Kickoff presentation (I'll backstop this with [redacted] in case the invitation is declined).

2. Arrangements have been completed with [redacted] to permit [redacted] Chief of Photography Instruction for the Attaché Department, to visit TSD and compare instructional facilities and techniques. [redacted]

3. The Civilian Analyst Course moves into specialized instruction this week, to include five Agency presentations. One student has been dropped and one late arrival admitted. The latter has just completed a summer session course.

4. A graduation program is attached. [redacted] addressed some excellent remarks to the departing Attachés. His only mention of the Strategic Intelligence Course was that one of his employees was in the "other class."

25X1

5. [redacted] remains quite ill. Concern has been expressed whether he'll ever return to duty.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Training

SUBJECT: Weekly Report #19: Defense Intelligence School (DIS)
19 July - 23 July 1965

1. The past week was distinctly dissimilar from previous ones for me. Only on Monday did I spend a full day at DIS, for reasons mentioned below.

25X1 2. In mid-week, I assisted in the Special Orientation Course for Senior Officer College selectees. My responsibility was to conduct the sessions on "Conference Leadership" and to inter-relate these to the lecture on "Briefing," which preceded, and to the Problem Solving exercise which [redacted] had selected for the conclusion of the program. According to [redacted] feed-back from the group was quite favorable.

25X1 3. On Thursday and Friday, I accompanied the IC/RC seminar group and selected Attaché faculty on their regularly scheduled visit to Cape Kennedy. Also accompanying the group were [redacted] of DIA, and a Mr. Wilson, from FTD at Wright-Patterson. On the several sweeps over the Cape enroute down and during the conducted tour there, Mr. Wilson made appropriate comparisons between U.S. and U.S.S.R. vehicles and launching systems. [redacted] was the senior of three Attachés [redacted] [redacted] (As a classmate of [redacted] at the National War College, he had kept in close touch with [redacted] and had visited the family in recent weeks [redacted])

25X1 At the request of [redacted], I am making available to him
25X1 all of the material I was able to accumulate on this worthwhile tour.
25X1 One amusing sidelight-- [redacted] and I were served at the Officers'
25X1 Club bar by a waitress whose name was CIA.

25X1 4. Some minor problem developed at DIS regarding the disposal of 25X1 classified waste; an IG report questioned the continued use by the 25X1 school of the District Incinerator. [redacted] the school Secre-
25X1 tary (and Security Officer), asked me for some supporting help so I 25X1 arranged with [redacted] Chief of our Physical Security Branch, to aid in 25X1 solving [redacted] problem.

25X1 5. DIS has never come up with as candid, and correspondingly effective, a speaker from the Department of State as the Hon. Jack H.
Vaughn, Assistant Secretary for Inter-American Affairs. He doesn't look the part of a good speaker, but one feels, as he responds to questions, that he knows what the President wants done and is attempting to get it done quickly. He might be a good bet for the Mid-Career program or the CT class.
