REFERENCE :

K- 4951

1. In an endeavor to increase our photographic coverage of specific Soviet targets we have assembled and pouched to [REDACTED] a package of material on photography and photographic requirements. Included in this package is GP/I 198, Techniques for Producing Good Ground Photography for Intelligence Purposes, dated 18 July 1956.

25X1

2. Many of the intelligence services with which we have productive liaison have capabilities for adding to our coverage of the USSR provided we can furnish them technical guidance and requirements. We are now attempting to obtain permission to release the classified sections of the above-mentioned package, and request that permission be granted for releasing GP/I 198 to those liaison services that have been approved for the receipt of classified information from the Agency.

3. In accordance with [REDACTED] it has been determined that the release of this information to friendly liaison services will result in a net advantage to the United States.
