Dear [Redacted]

STAT

On behalf of the J.C.S. Working Party on Ground Intelligence Photography it is my pleasure to express our formal appreciation for the hospitality extended our group on 26 October 1961. On my own behalf, and perhaps less formally on behalf of our other attendees, you all did an excellent job and we departed your new home with the collective feeling that we had spent a most constructive, informative and pleasant day.

As you noted in your welcoming comments, it has been a long time since our last group visit with [Redacted] on May 27, 1955. That the intervening years have been good to you is evident in your new building, in the caliber of your personnel, and in the obvious respect with which the profession hold you and your organization. Such respect and good fortune must be earned and your products and abilities as exhibited to the Working Party are full evidence that you have indeed earned your position.

STAT

I am certain that the expressions of interest in your company's potential that were made to me personally will soon be reflected through appropriate channels as individual group members return to you to examine your corporate potential to assist in the fulfillment of our various missions and responsibilities.

Again our thanks to you, to [Redacted] and to all of your other employees who made our day so successful.
