15. (Secret - THW) BRIEFING [redacted] DIA, called stating that the letter from the Secretary of Defense to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee went out on 24 December declining the invitation to appear on 13 January and referring to the Secretary's annual report and the JCS posture statement which would appear in late January. [redacted] said that although DIA was not included in the letter, DIA would not appear either and so notified the Committee.

STAT

16. (Secret - THW) BRIEFING I called Sam Goldberg, State Department, who said the letter from Secretary of State Kissinger to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had gone out on December 28 and merely said that he was declining with regret and considered the subject one which was important for its foreign policy implications and would continue to be important in the future. Goldberg said they then called Pat Holt, of the Committee staff, and orally gave him the real reason which was that it was bad timing and that the subject should properly be addressed by the new Administration.

17. (Confidential - GLC) LIAISON Called Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, (while he was vacationing in New Hampshire) and discussed with him the letter Mr. Shackley, ADDO, had received from Chairman Daniel Inouye (D., Hawaii) concerning [redacted] I told Miller that Mr. Knoche was disturbed by this letter and its prosecutorial tone. Miller said that Elliot Maxwell, also of the Committee staff, had written the letters, and that we should not worry. He added that they have found no violation of charter or guidelines on the part of the Agency; that it had followed all procedures. He said the Chairman's basic concern was with the decision by the policymakers.

10. (Unclassified - DFM) LIAISON Elliot Maxwell, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, called to say he was reviewing the CIA Act of 1949 and wondered what use was made of Section 5(c) of that Act and whether that Section was still necessary. Maxwell said he would like to discuss this with me after I had a chance to review it.

STAT 12. (Confidential - GLC) LIAISON Sam Hoskinson, NSC staff, called [redacted] and said he had talked to William Hyland, also of the NSC staff, last night and Hyland had said that J. J. Taylor, of the NSC staff, had acted on his own initiative in setting up a briefing for Senator Robert Byrd (D., W. Va.), and that Hyland feels, as he discussed with Mr. Knoche, that we (CIA) should work this out with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and that it should be referred to the Select Committee. Hoskinson said that Taylor is going to get in touch with Senator Byrd's office but he sees no reason why we could not get in touch with the Senator's office if we wished. Hoskinson told me that Taylor had already briefed Representative Antonio B. Won Pat (D., Guam). I said there was probably no harm in his doing this, but if we had known, we would have preferred it been done differently.

25X1 13. (Confidential - GLC) LIAISON In follow-up of my conversation with [redacted] OGC, I called Art Rovine, Department of State, concerning a Case Act agreement. Rovine was interested in the status of our conversations with Senate and House committees on this subject, and I gave him a fill in. In response to his query, I told Rovine that I did not think it would be a good idea for a joint session when we meet with Senator Clifford Case (R., N. J.). I told Rovine that I was planning on getting in touch with Jack Brady, Chief of Staff, House International Relations Committee, on this subject and would be back in touch with him tomorrow.

He asked if he could get a copy of such papers and I told him I would check.

8. (Unclassified - DFM) LIAISON Jean Evans, Senator Robert Stafford's (R., Vt.) designee on the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, called to ask for Agency information on the U.S.S.R's "USA Institute." Specifically, Evans wants a one page memo explaining the functions of the Institute and especially wants to know if there is any indication it has been used as a front for intelligence purposes.

9. (Confidential - DFM) LIAISON Tom Moore, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, called to say he would like to resume his review early next week of Agency documents on George S. DeMohrenschildt and the transcripts of Lee Harvey Oswald's conversations with the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City. Moore also hopes to review materials at the same session on the six Cubans which was the subject of Mike Madigan's, also of the Committee staff, letter of 13 December 1976. Moore also gave me the title of a two volume report on Cuban counter-revolutionary groups which he had previously asked for but which we had been unable to locate. Moore also asked for copies of certain documents which he reviewed along with the transcripts of the Oswald conversations.

4. (Unclassified - GLC) BRIEFING Bill Ashworth, Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, called concerning the Director's appearance before the Committee on 13 January regarding U.S./USSR strategic balances. Ashworth said to the best of his knowledge the hearings will still be held; that Fred Ickle, ACDA, has already accepted, DOD has declined and the Committee has not yet heard from the Department of State. I told Ashworth that I had heard from our various contact points that the White House felt that this was not the appropriate time for such a hearing and that I had talked to Pat Holt, Chief of Staff of the Committee, and we agreed to standby. I suggested Ashworth talk to Holt.

She asked that we return the letter and the envelope to her right away (she was upset at the fact that there was no note from the Congressman and said she wondered if the man used one of the Congressman's franked envelopes without permission). I told her I would send it to her tomorrow.

[redacted] In response to the request, I said we should be able to provide next week a listing of a damage assessment and that, of course, we would be in touch with any significant developments in the meantime. Miller said that Chairman Daniel Inouye (D., Hawaii) has been sought out by the press and has replied that consistent with S. Res. 400, CIA and FBI have kept the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence informed and it is not appropriate for him to comment on a matter under investigation. I indicated that the [redacted] case again proves the necessity for strong sources and methods legislation and would appreciate their help in moving fast on this in the new Congress. Maxwell has been working on the legislation and said that the holdup was due to the lack of a definition on methods and suggested we take a look at the wording used in S. 1 and review William E. Colby's recent statement on what needs to be protected believing that this provides more acceptable parameters for definition than what appears in our Bill. OLC will work on this in conjunction with OGC.

1. (Confidential - GLC) LIAISON Received a call from Richard Sprague, Chief Counsel, House Select Committee on Assassinations. He said that the matter of the Memorandum of Understanding had been resolved with the Justice Department and that Justice had agreed to the revisions suggested by the Committee. Sprague said they were redrafting the Memorandum along the lines we had discussed.

Sprague also requested that I convey to the Director Chairman Thomas Downing's (D., Va.) apology for having to cancel the meeting the Director was to have with him and several other members of the Committee on 17 December. I thanked Sprague and told him we understood. We will keep in touch on arranging another meeting after the holidays.

I told Sprague the 15 December article in the Los Angeles Times attributed to him saying "the Committee would reveal the names of CIA agents," had "created considerable heartburn here" but I had assured our people that it was inconsistent with statements he had made to me. Sprague said I was correct and that he made no such statement and had not seen the article. I said I would send him a copy, which was done.

1. (Unclassified - LLM) LIAISON I returned the call to Mr. Cary from Stan Sloan, Congressional Research Service, Library of Congress, in connection with a session he is having on Western Europe and his intention to invite [redacted] NIO, to the session. Sloan said he had spoken to [redacted] Center for Policy Support, about this and that [redacted] had suggested that he call us. I told him it was a good idea to go through this office since we are the focal point and it should be kept in this channel. He apologized and said that since he used to work for the Agency he knew some people here and this just came up in a conversation. He said that in the future he would touch base with us first. He said this session would be unclassified with a variety of people included, such as State, CRS, and a selection of people from around town.

I said I didn't think there was any problem but would check it out and if so I would call her back. I mentioned a stipulation of being a citizen for five years for employment with this Agency and that the extent and type of foreign relations also had a bearing. She said that the person that she was referring to had just received her citizenship. Again, I told her that if there was any problem I would call her back this afternoon.

I talked to [redacted] Office of Security, about the matter and he confirmed what I had told Ms. Hess.

9. (Limited Official Use - CM) CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY At Mr. Cary's suggestion, I alerted Sam Goldberg, Congressional Relations/ Department of State, to Representative Charles Diggs' (D., Mich.) interests in Rhodesia and American mercenaries there. Goldberg said Representative Diggs had frequently quizzed State on Rhodesia but knew of no request since the Washington Post article appeared on 9 December. He said he would alert the African desk, and understood my suggestion that we might route Representative Diggs to State if he wants more information or wants to place requirements for collection on this.

10. (Limited Official Use - CM) CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY Apropos Representative Charles Diggs' (D., Mich.) inquiry on Rhodesia, at Mr. Cary's suggestion I gave Bill Hogan, Counsel, Intelligence Subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee, the background, noting we had nothing on alleged American mercenaries there, that we are ready to give a background briefing, but that we may have problems if Representative Diggs asks us to find out something. Hogan agreed that reference to the State Department was a good first alternative, but promptly volunteered that Representative Diggs should get in touch with Representative Lucien Nedzi (D., Mich.), Chairman of the Subcommittee, if he were not otherwise satisfied. Hogan appreciated that such a request was not within our current reporting requirements, and perhaps ought not to be.

(Limited Official Use - CM) CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY At Mr. Cary's suggestion, I reached Representative Charles Diggs (D., Mich.) and reported that we had almost nothing to give him in response to his request for information on the Rhodesians and the alleged American mercenaries, that we were ready to give him a general briefing on the situation there; but did he want this, would this be responsive to his request? He said we should keep the appointment with him for 9:30 a.m. on 21 December, because he wants to see how we do respond to his request. I said we would be there. I will alert [redacted] Center for Policy Support/DDI, who plans to do the substantive briefing.

The Agency officers carefully explained to Strain that we had no such model or data base. They indicated that the State Department had requested such a study be made by the Agency, but that we had declined. Strain said that as far as he knew, the information he wanted did not exist anywhere else in the Government and he had come to the Agency only because when other agencies couldn't provide the information they suggested CIA could. Strain asked that if the Agency should embark on such a study, that we inform him and he also renewed his request for a number of unclassified Agency publications, which I agreed to send to him.

I told him that it seemed to us that Senator Charles Percy (R., Ill.) was the one mainly interested in conducting the hearings, and in particular, his Executive Assistant, Scott Cohen, was the one really pushing it. I said that the Director really had no objection to testifying but did have serious reservations about appearing in open session. I also mentioned to him that I had been in touch with Russ Rourke, White House staff, to see how the Administration feels on this but he hasn't been back to me yet. Jenkins said that Secretary Kissinger was out of town and they were going to send him a message saying that most of the Committee members are busy with the inauguration and probably wouldn't have a sufficient number available to merit holding the hearings. Jenkins also said that Secretary of Defense Rumsfeld was out of town but would be back Monday and they would put the question to him. I also talked to Goldberg about the recent finding the President had signed and the fact that a State Department representative would probably be present during those hearings. I also discussed with Goldberg the request the Agency had received from Chairman John Sparkman, Senate Foreign Relations Committee, asking the Director to appear before the Committee on 13 January on U.S./USSR strategic forces balance. Cohen said he was in receipt of a note from the Senator concerning Senator Percy's and Mr. Bush's conversation on this matter. He said the Senator feels that the Director should be able to provide some details in open session and that he was sure ground rules could be arranged prior to the briefing so that Senator Sparkman would intervene if questions were raised on sensitive matters. Cohen also suggested as a possibility that the Director not have to answer any questions at all during the open session. When I asked him about the possibility of an executive session only with the transcript later being sanitized for public distribution, Cohen said he did not think that would be satisfactory from the point of view of the hearings. I told Cohen I would have to discuss this again with the Director in the morning and I would be back in touch with him.
