5. Fisher Howe phoned respecting the ad hoc USCIB Committee on downgrading of PT. He requested me to consider seriously sitting on this Committee, because he feared that the appointees of the other agencies would be down too far in the working level, even below that of Security Committee. He suggested as possible members of the Committee Polyzoides, from State, Weckerling, from Army, and similar representatives from the other agencies. I indicated that we had been thinking of [redacted] but undertook to talk further with Mr. Howe about this.

That [redacted] was regarded [redacted] as one of the most valuable defectors for a number of years. Dr. Chadwell did not feel that CIA was proceeding with enough expedition in bringing [redacted] to the U.S. for further interrogation. I shall pass this on to DD/P.

- b. Dr. Chadwell also raised some questions respecting overt collection in Europe and I brought him up to date with my discussion with State on this problem.
- c. Dr. Chadwell indicated that although there was some dispute, certain [REDACTED] analysts felt that various outbreaks of foot and mouth disease in various parts of Europe were the result of Russian BW efforts.
- d. Dr. Chadwell called to my attention certain problems of AE security which I subsequently mentioned to Mr. Dulles and Shef Edwards. Dr. Chadwell undertook to brief Col. Edwards fully on these matters.

7. Adm. Overesch had a brief chat with me, during which the following points were covered:

- a. Adm. Overesch will join the IADs' meeting on August 5th, at which time anybody wishing to make an appointment with him will be able to do so. I gave him a copy of the Agenda which [REDACTED] had prepared, and also indicated that by the time of our meeting AD/CI would have had his talk with [REDACTED]
- b. Adm. Overesch emphasized the slowness of the pouch to Europe with a consequential overload on cable facilities. I shall have to speak with Red White on this. done
- c. Adm. Overesch indicated that one of the primary desires of the field people was for speedier and fuller evaluations of their reports. They are particularly anxious for more intelligence guidance. I shall have to raise this at an IADs' meeting.
- d. I outlined briefly for Adm. Overesch our plans with respect to the establishment of [REDACTED] including sending [REDACTED] temporarily and providing an Air Force Colonel as head of the unit. Adm. Overesch was well convinced of the value of this operation after his tour [REDACTED] and was in general agreement with our plans.

10. Chatted with Mr. Reber, who indicated that he was dissatisfied with the manner in which [REDACTED] was performing his duties in O/IC. I indicated that I was not entirely satisfied with the apparent lack of aggressiveness with which the [REDACTED] liaison was being conducted. No immediate action will be taken, but Mr. Reber was going to speak to [REDACTED] and we shall have to consider a replacement, in the event that [REDACTED] returns to defector work. [REDACTED] suggested that this could be handled through the Office of DD/I and I shall discuss this with [REDACTED] on his next visit to Washington.

11. Conferred with Mr. Sheldon, who raised the following points:

- a. The recommendation of O/CI respecting Chairman of the Watch Committee was that a Military man should occupy this position and their candidate was Capt. Roeder, of Navy, who is regarded highly by O/CI. On my inquiry, Mr. Sheldon ascertained that the Watch Committee was formed in 1948 as the successor to an Indications Committee which had previously existed in the Pentagon. Gen. Weckerling had been Chairman of this prior committee, so that there had been no precedent of the manner in which the Chairman of the Watch Committee is appointed.
- b. Mr. Sheldon complained at the inadequacies of screening of cables by the Operational Offices, to insure that O/CI received all items of intelligence interest. He suggested that they were ready, able and willing to furnish a man, fully cognizant of O/CI's needs, who should be stationed in the Operational Offices to screen such cables. I concurred in this idea and undertook to take it up with Mr. Wisner.
- c. Mr. Sheldon and I discussed briefly the cooperative production of short-range estimates by O/CI and O/NE. He is later to give me O/CI's final recommendations.

14. [REDACTED] inquired whether we were ready to go ahead on the ad hoc Scientific & Technical Committee Report this week. I indicated that I desired more time to have Dr. Chadwell review it. That made it unlikely that we would be able to get it on for this Thursday IAC. He indicated that I could secure up-to-date information on the status of this problem from [REDACTED] I shall have to call [REDACTED] in the near future. 25X1A9a
