Can you give me guidance regarding initiation of translation

requests through JPRS or any other translating service [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Specifically, I would like to have PROBLEMS OF WAR AND PEACE: CRITICISM OF CONTEMPORARY BOURGEOIS SOCIO - PHILOSOPHICAL CONCEPTS (Moscow: Mysl Publishers), translated.
trans to March 1968
The book was published either in late 1968 or early 1969. Its authors are E. Mordzhinskaya, B. Grigoryan and T. Kondratkova.

Any help you could give in the matter would be appreciated.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Richard V. Allen
NSC Staff

SUBJECT : JPRS Contracts, Etc.

1. I have located a copy of the English text of Problems of War and Peace: Criticism of Contemporary Bourgeois Socio-Philosophical Concepts. Published prior to March of last year, it was sent out for translation several months ago and by coincidence is being printed this week. I will have a copy for you Monday, 17 February.

2. You can initiate translations by contacting JPRS in the Department of Commerce, with the NSC paying the customary charges. There are two or three other translation services available within the government, but JPRS is the place to start. CIA maintains a Consolidated Translation Survey (Code 143, ext. 3094) which is a complete listing of all translations done under contract for the government. Anyone at the CTS number could tell you in short order whether something has been translated and, if so, where it can be located.

3. The copy of Kommunist which I ordered for you last week arrived in London yesterday and will be here in a day or two.

4. Yes, I am at the White House daily at 5:30 p.m. for the purpose of briefing HAK. I would be delighted to have lunch any day--but perhaps we had better wait until the President's European trip has been concluded.

MEMORANDUM FOR [REDACTED]

FROM: Richard V. Allen RVA

RE: CIA Materials

Paul:

Thanks very much for your 13 February memorandum. I will be glad to have the translation, and the information on translation is also most useful.

25X1A With regard to what should be done with the documents, I called [REDACTED] who said that I could destroy them here or send them back. For the moment, I will see how the volume "bulks," and will keep those which I have received.

Of these on the list for consideration, I would appreciate receiving NIPP-69, all parts which are currently available. In addition, I would like to have NIE94-69 (Prospects for Chile), SNIE14.2 -69 (The Situation in Korea), and NIE 11-69 (Soviet Policy Toward the U. S.).

Waiting until after the trip for lunch is fine with me. One wonders if there will ever be an end to the tasks.

MEMORANDUM

SUBJECT: Phone Call to Mr. Richard V. Allen of NSC Staff

25X1A

25X1A 1. Mr. Allen had called [REDACTED], DD/OCI, on 13 February to inquire about the validity of a statement in Embassy Buenos Aires cable 6743 to the effect that the "real danger" in Peru comes from the "second rank" of Peruvian officers who are "Communist-oriented." [REDACTED] 25X1A asked [REDACTED] to call Allen in an attempt to put this statement in perspective.

2. I reached Mr. Allen by phone at about 1730 on 14 February. I told him that there are two groups in Peru close to President Velasco that might conceivably fit the description, but neither of these are "second echelon" in the sense of being immediately in the line of succession to top power positions in the Peruvian government. One group is composed of young military officers who have graduated from the country's Academy for Advanced Military Studies. These officers might better be described as "nasirists" in that they are strong nationalists, inclined toward statist goals, and men who had been exposed to Marxist teachings at the Academy.

3. The second group which might fit the description is the small coterie of civilian advisers around President Velasco. Some (but not all) of these "kitchen cabinet" members have had Communist associations. I assured Mr. Allen that we are aware of the troublemaking potential of these groups and that we are trying to find out more about them.

4. Mr. Allen was most cordial and seemed appreciative of the call. He said he has been in "the cockpit" (at the White House) for only three weeks and he finds it a bit unnerving as he reads cables coming in from all over the world referring to problems and dangers about which he knows little. He said he has trouble sometimes sorting fact from the kind of fiction that some foreign governments and personalities are promoting for their own ends. He said he would like soon to take a trip to Latin America and would want first to come out to the Agency to talk with us. He said he remembers with pleasure the tour of the Agency given him by [REDACTED] during the transition period.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Richard V. Allen
NSC Staff

SUBJECT : Transmittal of National Estimates

1. Herewith, as you requested, I am forwarding one copy each of National Intelligence Estimate 94-69, Chile, and SNIE 14.2-69, Confrontation in Korea. The National Intelligence Projections for Planning, Soviet Military Forces Through Mid-1978, Sections I and II are available through Dr. Kissinger.

2. NIE 11-69, Basic Factors and Main Tendencies in Current Soviet Policy, has not been approved by the United States Intelligence Board. It is slated for consideration by USIB on 27 February and should be available sometime thereafter.

3. All of these papers are available to you in the National Security Council Staff's own intelligence holdings--either through Bromley Smith or Dick Moose.

4. I have been promised a copy of Problems of War and Peace by Thursday of this week. If it has not arrived by the time I leave for Europe, I will arrange with my secretary to have it delivered to you.

Paul:

Thanks for sending the issue of KOMMUNIST. I also appreciate receiving the Boltin article on Stalin.

Have you and your colleagues anything in the works on the "re-Stalinization" phenomenon? If so, I would certainly like to see the product.

With best regards,

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Richard V. Allen
National Security Council Staff

SUBJECT : Materials on "Re-Stalinization"

1. After receiving your note of 18 February, I asked our Soviet specialists what we had done, formally or in-house, on the "re-Stalinization" phenomenon. I enclose the fruits of my query--along with an apology for the delay. I took a week's leave to paint the house; seven days became twenty-one and still I wield a brush after duty hours. In any case, these papers were waiting for me when I returned to my desk.

2. The Stalin Issue and the Soviet Leadership Struggle was written by a member of our Agency's Senior Research Group as part of a continuing effort to subject Soviet Bloc developments to closer scrutiny than is always possible in the current intelligence game. The Birth Pangs of a New Stalin 'Error' was an informal memo written in November 1965. "Soviet Notes" is an in-house daily working paper circulated for the benefit of our desk officers. The compilation of field reports on the Shub articles is self-explanatory.

Dear Paul:

On eventually getting to the materials which you forwarded to me on April 22nd, I find that I did not acknowledge receipt of them. I would like to thank you very much for going to the trouble of pulling this material together. It has been of much use to me.

We ought to have lunch one of these days--hopefully soon.

Best regards,
