NOTE FOR: The DDO

FROM : E. H. Knoche, DDCI

Bill:

From a number of quarters—high, medium and low—I keep hearing about the "endless bureaucracy" of the DDO, usually in the context of mountains of paper.

Part of this, I am sure, stems from efforts at all levels to improve visibility, sharing of responsibility, and command and control. I wonder, though, if it may not be time to have a look at paper requirements within your Directorate.

If the Comptroller or any other Agency component can be of use to you in this regard, please feel free to ask, though I would think it something for a DDO working group to examine.
