REPORT NO.

THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

1. There were radio sets at the posts in Leningrad and Gromohollenstein where [] the men on duty listened in to broadcasts of the VOA and the BBC. Reception of VOA was best after 0200 hours when most other stations had closed down.
2. BBC broadcasts were difficult to hear because of jamming. The broadcasts on [] had best results on 41 m and 350 m.
3. These broadcasts were listened to mainly out of curiosity and were regarded as counter propaganda to the Soviet broadcaster. It was not thought that any Soviet organization might be behind these broadcasts but rather that it was propaganda conducted by the US Government from US territory.
4. []
5. [] in order to make these broadcasts effective, Soviet citizens should be used as broadcasters to whose idiom and audience would be paid.
6. An answer to jamming would be a 24-hour service but even then the rural population would not benefit because of their poverty and lack of radio sets.
[]
7. [] views on the probability of war:

(a) A future war is inevitable and the first sign of it was the Korean war, which was waged by the Western Powers in order to get a step nearer to the borders of the USSR proper as a spring-board for the final assault.

- (b) The war will be started by the Western powers and the Russian people will be united in meeting an attack on their country. [redacted] 50X1-HUM
- (c) It is not in the interest of the USSR to wage a war. But wars are the outcome of politics and politics in the USSR are directed by Jews. [redacted] 50X1-HUM
8. Stalin is not as popular as the newspapers or the numerous resolutions passed, make out. It is commonly realized that if opportunities for opposition existed without retribution, the Russian people would act with more discrimination. [redacted]
9. Stalin is regarded as the anti-Christ as described in the Bible. [redacted] 50X1-HUM
10. Stalin has deviated from the course which Lenin mapped out for the Russian people and when Stalin's first wife reproached him for it, Stalin shot her dead. Stalin is to blame for the plight of the Russian peasants. Lenin advocated that the empty spaces should be populated, but Stalin introduced the system of kolchozes. Lenin advocated the eight hour day, but Stalin's "norms" system has resulted in a 16-hour day.
11. Stalin should stand judgement by a court of the people and his punishment should be that he is made to do the hard manual labor which the old people throughout the USSR have to do. [redacted]
12. [redacted] At present Zhukov is in disfavour and all pictures of him have been removed. According to rumor, when the war was over Zhukov advocated that the kolchozes should be disbanded and that, as the fruits of victory, the peasants should have their own farms. Another rumor was that Zhukov wanted to send the Jews to Palestine, as they are not popular in the USSR. One shipment of 2000 Jews actually left the USSR but they were all drowned on the way. When Zhukov disagreed with Stalin the desirability of sending the Jews out of the USSR, Stalin's second wife, who is a Jewess, pulled out a gun and shot at Zhukov. Whatever Zhukov wanted to do to improve the living conditions of the people he was obstructed and received no support from the other leaders. [redacted] 50X1-HUM

13. Marshal Rokossovski was a good friend of Zhukov and it might well be that he would turn the Polish Army against the USSR in the event of war. [redacted] 50X1-HUM

14. There is definite anti-semitism in the USSR. It is usually amongst Jews that the "Gedobnyak" (a contemptuous name for a GIB officer) recruits his informants and "Gedobnyak" who invariably work for him. They need no soap to slide into his favours. During World War II, Jewish soldiers were regarded as unreliable, they were unwilling to go to the support of their comrades if that endangered their lives, they were cowardly and many were shot. It is mostly Jews who are employed in offices and shops. [redacted] 50X1-HUM
15. [redacted]
16. It is not the Russian's nature to want to dominate and wield power, he wants to be left alone. This Russian trait has been exploited by the Jews, who on the backs of the Russians have grabbed power. It was wrong of Hitler to shoot the Jews, they should be sent to a country and made to live there. [redacted] 50X1-HUM
