COLLECT BONES, WASTE PAPER

The Five-Year Plan provides for the collection and utilization of every type of waste material including animal waste such as bones, bristles, hoofs, horns, etc. Boiling and chemical processing make bones suitable for the production of soap, candles, nonfreezing lubricants, etc. Pure bone fat may be used for food, gelatine for cooking, medicine, bacteriology, photography, film production, etc., and for glue manufacture. Bone meal is excellent for animal fodder and as a preventive against livestock and poultry diseases. Because of their high calcium and phosphate content, bones are also used for fertilizer.
