1950 GRAIN HARVEST NEAR 1949 LEVEL -- Prague, Lidove Noviny, 28 Oct 50

According to preliminary data, the 1950 grain harvest reached the 1949 level, except for a few spring grains which, particularly in Slovakia, did not receive enough moisture and were not up to the plan.

The number of livestock at the end of the third quarter 1950 was 98 percent of the number planned for the end of the year. This indicates a rise of 5 percent over the same period of the previous year. The year-end planned number of cows was 99 percent achieved at the end of the third quarter, that of pigs 119 percent, and that of sows 89 percent. This represents an increase of 6 percent in the number of cows over the third quarter 1949.

The milk-production plan was fulfilled by 115 percent, and milk productivity per cow rose by 11 percent over 1949. Nevertheless, the milk-delivery plan was not fulfilled.

The egg-production plan was fulfilled by 109 percent, and egg productivity per hen increased by one percent over 1949.

In the 1950 harvest 4,200 JZD (Unified Agricultural Cooperatives) planned common work. Of this number, 2,600 cooperatives were engaged in socialist competitions, and 2,400 organized mass deliveries of grain. The boundaries between fields were plowed up on 2,730 cooperatives.

The forestry plan progressed quite well. By the end of the third quarter the annual plan had been fulfilled 88 percent in wood felling, 80 percent in hauling the wood out, and 72 percent in deliveries of wood.
