Review: Text of an address made by Fang Fang on 11 February 1951 in which he describes the preliminary steps taken in late 1950 for all-out land reform in Kwangtung. Three hsiens were picked as pilot projects for land reform and training of land-reform cadres. Subsequently, in December 1950, the number of hsiens experimenting with land reform was increased to 11. The address, which was broadcast over the radio, discusses the experiences of the 11 pilot projects; the problem of leadership; and the mobilization of party, government, military, and masses for the completion of land reform during the 1952 spring culti-

> Includes an editorial of the Canton Nan-fang Jih-pao commenting on this address and the general problem of completing land reform. Gives information o. the preparatory measures and stages of land reform on a provincial basis.
