1. The Lodz radio station is located on ul. Narutowicza. The one and only building adjoins the street and the entrance to it is directly next to the street. Admittance is by pass only. Passes are issued by the Industrial Guard. (Straz Przemyslowa). The entire area surrounding the building is enclosed by a fence. The radio station is heavily guarded from within as well as from outside. Each guard shift consists of 15-20 persons, armed with rifles and pistols. At night the area is illuminated by spotlights.
2. Two radio masts are located in the area behind the building. These masts are set in cement and held down with the aid of cables, spiked to the ground. A star-shaped antenna is attached to one of the masts and is connected to the building by wires.
3. It is said that this station is a jamming station for Western shortwave and regular broadcasts.
