DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY

ESTIMATED FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE COSTS FOR FISCAL YEAR 1960

Line I a - Comint: Comprises a number of definitive improvement projects directed toward maintaining a capability against the latest communication innovations through adjustments in the quantity, type, and deployment of collection activities, development, procurement and installation of specialized intercept, processing, and communications equipment, and increased exploitation of mobile collection techniques.

Line I b - ELINT: Covers the detection and surveillance of electromagnetic emissions through the installation of high gain antennas and more modern equipments at existing sites, and the operation of special mobile collection facilities.

Line I c - Other Interception: Covers the costs for intelligence operations conducted by two VQ Special Mission Squadrons overseas.

Line I e - Other Non-Overt: Covers submarine reconnaissance (visual, sonar, photographic) and HFDF operations.

Line I f - Foreign Service and Attache Reporting: Includes the overall cost of the military attache system, in those areas not listed above, and that portion of State's overseas Foreign Service costs directly attributed to the collection and reporting of intelligence information.

Line I g - Publication procurement: Includes all costs for foreign publication, and for personnel and logistics support of their procurement.

Line I h - Other Overt: Covers administrative support to the Defectors Reception Centers, the processing of requests for intelligence information which is obtainable from other U.S. Intelligence agencies, and special photographic requests.

Line II a - Military Intelligence: Includes primarily military aspects of finished-intelligence production and its dissemination - including such matters on military organization, equipment, training, deployment, TO's order of battle, and logistics capabilities. It covers that finished intelligence for which the Department of Defense has production responsibility under provision of NSCID No. 3; and the integration of various aspects of military estimates.

Line II d - Scientific and Technical Intelligence: Includes the production and dissemination of finished intelligence on:

(1) The progress of foreign scientific research and development, and achievements resulting therefrom - affecting the military, economic or political potential of a nation.
