

CONFIDENTIAL

COMPTROLLER GENERAL OF THE UNITED STATES
WASHINGTON 25

MAY 16 1959

Honorable Paul J. Kilday, Chairman
Special Subcommittee, Central Intelligence Agency
Committee on Armed Services
House of Representatives

Dear Mr. Chairman:

The General Accounting Office has made a review of selected activities of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) for the purpose of determining whether the scope of the audit of the General Accounting Office could be expanded sufficiently to make reasonably comprehensive evaluations of CIA activities that would be helpful to the Congress.

This review was made pursuant to the interest indicated by the Special Subcommittee at an executive hearing in May 1959. Following several meetings between representatives of the General Accounting Office and CIA, the Director of Central Intelligence and the Comptroller General in October 1959 had an exchange of correspondence concerning the audit and concerning restrictions on undertaking reviews in the area of sensitive security operations. Various steps were taken by CIA to place the General Accounting Office in a position to make a comprehensive audit of the overt activities of CIA. It is our view, however, that under existing security restrictions on our audit of CIA activities, we do not have sufficient access to make comprehensive reviews on a continuing basis that would be productive of evaluations helpful to the Congress.

We limited our review to selected overt activities as access to the covert (confidential) activities of CIA was denied us. We have had no access whatsoever to the Plans Component, and we cannot effectively review and evaluate the activities of the Support Component because the confidential and overt activities of this component are integrated to such an extent that we cannot make reasonably comprehensive audits. We have been given sufficient access to make reasonably comprehensive reviews of the overt activities of the Intelligence Component, but such reviews, in our opinion, will not be productive of significant evaluations because we cannot feasibly evaluate the extent to which needed overt information is available for collection or determining the need for the intelligence information selected for collection and use in the production of intelligence reports. About 90 percent of the annual expenditures of the Intelligence Component relates to payroll and other contractual payments for personal services rendered in selecting on the basis of personal judgment under broad guidelines established by the intelligence community the specific information to be collected, collated, and used in the production of intelligence reports.

Review of this document by CIA has determined that it did not have objection to disclose confidential information of CIA

would not result in the disclosure of information

Based on our review, we believe that (1) CIA is financing certain Library of Congress activities which substantially transcend CIA's interest and responsibility for providing a centralized reference service as a service of common concern to the intelligence community and (2) administrative controls over CIA's [REDACTED], should be strengthened. In addition, we have questioned the arrangements under which CIA is financing certain activities at the Department of State.

Two projects at the Library of Congress, the Monthly Index of Russian Accessions and the East European Accession Index, are being financed through the operating budgets of the Office of Central Reference. The budget of this office includes $65,000 to finance these projects in fiscal year 1961. The projects produce publications which are primarily distributed to public and private research organizations and libraries in the United States and many foreign nations, including some in the U.S.S.R. and its satellites. These projects, in our opinion, substantially transcend CIA's interest and responsibility for providing a central reference facility as a service of common concern to the intelligence community.

We have been advised by CIA that based on a review of the needs of the intelligence community, it has been determined that the present published form of these indexes is not essential for intelligence purposes, but, there are portions of the research work that goes into the preparation of the indexes that CIA would want to continue, and the matter is under active consideration to determine what portion of the related costs should continue to be financed by CIA.

25X1C

Certain administrative procedures pertinent to CIA's control over the activities of its [REDACTED] should be strengthened. We have been advised by CIA that changes are to be made which will strengthen these controls.

25X1C

Two projects at the Department of State, the National Intelligence Survey and Biographic Intelligence, are being financed by CIA through the operating budgets of the Office of Central Reference and the Office of Basic Intelligence. The budgets of the two offices include $2,417,000 to finance these projects in 1961. In April 1961, we were advised by CIA that the Department of State and CIA have been considering the possible transfer of these Department of State activities to CIA. CIA presently has under consideration other matters raised by us on these financing arrangements, and we will furnish you with a supplementary letter when decision has been reached thereon.

In as much as we cannot, in our opinion, effectively accomplish any worthwhile audit objectives on a continuing basis, we plan to discontinue our audit of CIA activities.

We are prepared to discuss these matters with you should you so desire.

A copy of this letter is being sent today to the Director of Central Intelligence.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) Joseph Campbell

Comptroller General of the United States
