SUBJECT:

President's Annual International
Economic Report

Attached is the working outline of the President's third International Economic Report, which must be transmitted to Congress in early 1975. The Report is intended to educate the Congress and the public on major current economic issues, and where appropriate, to introduce new US policy. This year's Report is designed to stress the changing structure of the world economy and the altered position of the United States in the world economy. Particular attention is given to the US competitive position and to the composition of the "Third World."

-2-

My staff has already been in touch with some of your staff with regard to materials for the Report. However, I would appreciate your designating one member of your staff as a primary contact point for this project and informing [redacted] of my staff [redacted] by close of business, Wednesday, October 9. Initial draft chapters are due on November 15 and a preliminary version of the entire report will be sent to you for comments and suggestions on December 15, 1974.
