Dear Mr. Lyon,

Thank you for sending me a copy of Richard Yorke's talk to the ABA. I too am looking forward to meeting you in November and to returning home once again.

I hope the attached biography will provide the information you need for publicity and your introductory remarks.

Again, I'm looking forward to our meeting. In the meantime, all the best.

Yours sincerely,

(EXECUTIVE REGISTRY FILE

BIOGRAPHY OF ADMIRAL STANSFIELD TURNER

Admiral Stansfield Turner, United States Navy, was sworn in as Director of Central Intelligence on March 9, 1977. In this position he heads the Intelligence Community (the foreign intelligence agencies of the United States) as well as directs the Central Intelligence Agency.

A native of Highland Park, Illinois, Admiral Turner entered Amherst College in 1941 and, two years later, was appointed to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland. After graduation in 1946 (Class of 1947), he served one year at sea before entering Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar for work on a master's degree in Philosophy, Politics and Economics.

Following Oxford, he held a variety of sea assignments, including command of a minesweeper, a destroyer, and a guided missile frigate which he placed in commission. His shore assignments included the Politico-Military Policy Division in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Systems Analysis, the Advanced Management Program at the Harvard Business School, and Executive Assistant and Naval Aide to the Secretary of the Navy.

He was selected for promotion to Rear Admiral in May 1970, and shortly thereafter assumed command of a Carrier Task Group of the Sixth Fleet while serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Independence. After that, he directed the Systems Analysis Division of the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

On June 30, 1972, Admiral Turner became the 36th President of the Naval War College at Newport, Rhode Island, with the rank of Vice Admiral. During his two-year tenure there, he instituted major revisions in the curriculum to strengthen its academic content.

In August 1974 he became commander of the United States Second Fleet and NATO Striking Fleet Atlantic. He served in that capacity until August 1975 when he was named to become Commander in Chief, Allied Forces Southern Europe (AFSOUTH), with headquarters in Naples, Italy. Upon assuming that position on September 1, 1975, he was promoted to the rank of Admiral. He held this command until his departure on March 2, 1977, to assume his present duties.

Admiral Turner and his wife, Patricia, have two married children. Their daughter, Mrs. Frank Echevarria, lives in San Diego, California, where she and her husband work in the San Diego Community college system. Their son, Lieutenant Geoffrey W. Turner, his wife and their son, Scott, live in Washington, D.C. where Geoffrey is in Naval Intelligence.

Dear Admiral Turner:

AT I am looking forward to meeting you and Lt. [redacted] on November 13. While I expect to work out details with [redacted] I would appreciate it if material helpful for publicity and for my Introduction on the night of your address can be forwarded to me at this time.

As you can tell from the attached speech by Richard Yorke, Q.C. at the recent American Bar Association convention in Chicago, I like to do some background work on the speaker of the evening.

Should you prefer it I can of course stop by your office on one of my trips to Washington in the next few weeks.

With best wishes.

Sincerely,

Richard Martin Lyon

Admiral Stansfield Turner
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Admiral Turner:

It was with a great deal of interest that I, along with many other residents of the North Shore of Chicago, read of the designation and confirmation of a Highland Park native as the President's choice to head the Central Intelligence Agency.

I am writing you as a member of the Board of Trustees of the North Shore Unitarian Church which draws many of its members from Highland Park, Deerfield, Northbrook, Glenview and Lake Forest, Illinois. The Board has asked me to invite you to give a talk at our Church on a subject in the general area of your new governmental responsibilities. In view of the New York Times description of you as a man "endlessly curious about philosophy, theater, opera, international politics and military affairs" I would be most hesitant to limit you in the choice of a topic, although of course, your concepts of national security and military affairs would be of real interest.

I would schedule your talk on a Sunday evening of your choice, and publicize it in the adjoining suburban communities. Since our Church generally enjoys a summer recess from Mid-June to Mid-September, I might suggest that if you can accept our invitation that you let me have a few possible dates between now and early June or from late September through October, 1977.

In view of the President's great emphasis on having his Cabinet members maintain grass roots contacts with the American people, I certainly want to be one of the first in line to request that you honor us with your presence.

Enclosed is a brochure which describes some of the aesthetic features of the North Shore Unitarian Church. I look forward to hearing from you.

THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

AIMS AND ACTIVITIES

"There is the statesmanship of thought and there is the statesmanship of action . . . the man who has the time, the discrimination, and the sagacity to collect and comprehend the principle facts and the man who must act upon them must draw near to one another and feel that they are engaged in a common enterprise."

Woodrow Wilson
APSA Presidential Address, 1910

The American Political Science Association is the major professional organization in the United States for those devoted to the study of political systems.

Supported by almost 15,000 individual and institutional members and by grants from a growing number of foundations, the Association provides a variety of services to members, encourages research, conducts educational programs and generally brings together theory and practice in the broad fields of government, politics and public affairs.

The membership of the Association is made up chiefly of political scientists teaching in the nation's colleges and universities. Also included are lawyers, businessmen, journalists, federal, state and local government officials, members and staff members of Congress. Overall policy for the Association is established by the membership through its elective Officers and Council. Samuel H. Beer, Harvard University, served as President in 1976-77. Others who have served in this position since the Association's founding in 1903 include Woodrow Wilson, James Bryce, John Bassett Moore, Charles A. Beard and Ralph J. Bunche.

The Association maintains a national headquarters and staff in Washington, D.C. Purchased in 1966, the Political Science Building provides permanent offices for the officers and staff of the Association, from which the various membership services and programs are administered. Facilities also include conference and meeting rooms for use in Association programs and for other political science groups meeting in Washington requesting their use.

Since its founding in 1903, the Association has organized research in numerous undertakings involving broader participation than that of the individual scholar. On several occasions it has prepared reports on public issues at the request of the President of the United States. In the field of individual research, the Association annually recognizes—through cash awards and citations—outstanding books and theses in the field of political science.

The Association conducts numerous educational programs for political scientists, secondary school social studies teachers, reporters and public officials. The Association also operates a number of general service programs for its members. Included are a professional Personnel Service, a registry of retired professors, and term life, accident and hospital cash insurance programs.

The Association publishes the quarterly journal, The American Political Science Review, which contains articles reporting recent research, book reviews and research notes. PS, also a quarterly, includes news and articles about the profession of political science as well as news and notes about individual members. The Association also publishes a Biographical Directory of Association Members and a Guide to Graduate Study in Political Science.

352 pages (approx.) paper

"The authors have produced a fresh, well-conceived, and complete treatment of the basic elements of American politics... (The book) provides a very good treatment of such topics as 'culture' and 'justice,' for example, dramatizing their importance while pointing out their elusiveness..."

Chapter 3 is one of the best treatments of the roots of American political culture I have encountered in any book. Students will understand the brighter and darker aspects of the 'American dream' better because Moore and Roberts have tied it to the compounded values and experiences of the Puritan heritage, the frontier experience, and the great immigration."—a prepublication review.

Registry of Retired Professors

The Association maintains a Registry of Retired Professors. The Registry serves as an information exchange for retired professors who wish to teach one or more courses on a one-semester or one-year basis, and those institutions desiring to make such appointments. Any retired professor wishing to be listed in the Registry should contact the Association to receive an application form. Departmental chairmen wishing to inquire about the availability of retired professors in a certain specialty or geographic area should write specifying their requirements.

Short Course 1 Wednesday 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Chevy Chase Suite

On LAPSS, En Extremis, by Gayle Avant of Baylor University and Gary E. Thompson of Abilene
Christian University. $25.00.

How to use an instructional unit that involves students in 1) discovering some pivotal themes in normative political theory, 2) learning the elements of courtroom procedure, and 3) clarifying perennial issues of jurisprudence. Readings are drawn from political philosophy and ethics, and assignments are exercises and a role-playing simulation. The unit is appropriate for upper-division courses in political philosophy, political analysis and public law. There is one edition of the unit for students and one edition for instructors. Each edition includes readings, exercises and instructions on the execution of a simulation exercise.

Short Course 2 Wednesday 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., Dupont Suite

On SETUPS, Budgetary Process in Cross-National Perspective, by John C. Campbell, University of Michigan, and John Echols, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle. $15.00.

The development and use of a public policy SETUPS—an instructional unit on the comparative analysis of 1) policy outputs, 2) change in policy and process. The analysis focuses on how governments make decisions about public policy and governments' decision making priorities. Data are drawn from national budgets for 14 countries, including the USA, USSR, Western and Eastern European nations. Students are taught how to measure budgets; assess different measures; examine budgetary expenditures for defense, education, health and welfare; determine budgetary changes over time. Students' mastery of the material is indicated by their successful completion of exercises.

Short Course 3 Wednesday 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Edison Suite Workshop on Audio Visual Materials, conducted by Dean Myers, Indiana State University; Richard Blue, AID; and Gary Hammerstrom, Producer for Zenger Productions. $25.00.

Faced with students ever more oriented toward non-print media, many political scientists have recognized the desirability of introducing audio-visual material into their courses. These same political scientists soon become aware of how time-consuming and frustrating a task this can be. Becoming familiar with material and hardware, evaluating the material, and finding the most fruitful way to integrate such material into coursework have led many to return to a more satisfying, substantive, preparation for teaching.

This workshop is intended to alleviate some of these problems by providing an opportunity to share the experience of colleagues who have endured the frustration and worked with the audio-visual media. It will provide basic information in an immediately applicable form, and an effort will be made to meet some of the specific needs of participants.

Four media will be considered: motion pictures, sound filmstrips, slide-tape modules, and the overhead projector. There will be a discussion of commercially available material and how to find it; of techniques for using the media; of problems involved in their use; of production techniques requiring minimal skill; and hands on experience with these techniques and associated equipment.

APSA ORGANIZED SUBFIELDS MEETINGS

James Q. Wilson and Harvey C. Mansfield, Jr., Harvard University, Chairpersons

At its meeting in August, 1976, the Council of the APSA requested that the 1977 Program Committee "explore the degree of interest in beginning to organize continuing sections" for the annual APSA program. The reasons for this request include a desire to provide greater clarity and continuity in the program sections and to permit scholars working in those subfields to participate more fully in defining the panel topics.

In response to this request, a series of open sessions will be convened at which scholars in various subfields of political science may discuss and make recommendations regarding the feasibility and desirability of having permanent, or semi-permanent, sections as is now the case in the American Anthropology Association, the American Psychological Association, and the American Sociological Association.

Clearly, people will differ as to the specification of subfields. The list below is merely a starting point. The main task of subfield definition, however, should be left to those who work in them and who may wish to attend the meetings themselves. At some subfield meetings, members may decide that they do not wish to become an organized subfield and that more diversity is secured by the present system of rapid turnover. In others, those in attendance may express a strong desire for permanent organization for the reasons above suggested, but perhaps along lines not envisaged by the list below. Members are free to attend as many subfield meetings as they wish.

We see these meetings as the beginning of an extended exploration of the issue. Each meeting will be initiated by a "convenor." At the meeting, those present may elect to choose another chairperson, or they may choose to disband forthwith, or they may discuss the issue in general terms, or they may formulate detailed recommendations.

The convenor of each meeting will be responsible for insuring that the meeting is held, that the key questions are put to those who attend, and that a report to the Program Committee is written on the results of the meeting. The Program Committee will transmit these reports to the Council for its consideration. The Council, in turn, may wish to develop criteria for recognizing an organized subfield and it may choose to proceed incrementally, authorizing subfields in some areas and not others.

Organizational Meeting Thursday 11:45 a.m., Jackson Suite
Moderators: Elinor Ostrom, Indiana University; and Milton Kotler, Institute for Policy Research

The Neighborhood Organization Research Group was established at the last annual meeting of The American Political Science Association. The objectives of the group are: (1) to encourage research on neighborhoods, neighborhood organizations, and neighborhood government; and (2) to serve as a vehicle for the exchange of information on such research among academicians, public officials and community leaders.

The purposes of this meeting will be to: (1) report on the year's activities; (2) define priorities and objectives for the coming year; and (3) establish an organizational framework for accomplishing these objectives. We will also be discussing potential sources and means of funding NORO activities. The meeting will be convened by Elinor Ostrom and Milton Kotler. Any and all of you interested in neighborhood research and related issues are urged to attend.

FOUNDATIONS OF POLITICAL THEORY GROUP

George J. Graham, Jr., Vanderbilt University, Organizer

The Foundations of Political Theory Group annually presents a series of panels on a theme that draws together theorists from a variety of schools and approaches. This year (and next) the central purpose is to move beyond inutile debates over science (which seldom get beyond the 'last chapterism' found throughout critical books and papers that end with promised new horizons to be explored in the next report) to efforts to demonstrate how alternative theoretical approaches can contribute to political understanding. Each paper should illustrate how a specific theoretical approach resolves a political and/or political theory problem. The panels are designed to stimulate audience discussion of the general theme in light of the papers. Copies of the papers will be available at the panel sessions.

The specific theme of next year's panels at the 1978 American Political Science Association Annual Meeting, "The Relation of Fact and Value in Alternative Political Theories," will parallel this year's program. Individuals interested in participating in the 1978 Program should write to George J. Graham, Jr.

Special Session: Workshop on Multiple Perspectives in Reading
The Declaration of Independence Friday 4:15 p.m., Thoroughbred Room

A roundtable and general discussion of the first two sentences of the Declaration will provide the subject of this special workshop. The session is an experiment that is designed to raise the issues entailed in the activity of reading; it should bring out the important relations between and among text and the theoretical, methodological, and contextual assumptions of the reader. Participants whose brief statements will provide the bases for general discussion come from several humanities disciplines as well as from political science.

Chair: Ronald Jager, Yale University

Participants: Eugene R. Hammond, University of Maryland, College Park
Alan Fuchs, College of William and Mary

YOUTH AND CHANGE IN AMERICAN POLITICS

*By Louis M. Seagull, formerly,
University of Pennsylvania*
Views the political behavior of youth as following certain generational patterns, with youth as an agent for social, cultural, and political change—not as a consequence of recent extraordinary events, but as part of a basic cyclical societal evolution.

AMERICAN DEMOCRACY DEBATED: AN INTRODUCTION TO AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

Charles Dunn (Clemson University)

In this unique approach to introductory courses in American government, each chapter is organized around a debate – with both the affirmative and negative sides presented. By combining traditional coverage with this innovative, classroom-tested approach, this new text stimulates student interest while providing the “nuts and bolts” of American government.

REPORT OF THE 1978 PROGRAM COMMITTEE

The 1978 Annual Meeting of the Association will be held from Thursday, August 31 through Sunday, September 3 at the New York Hilton Hotel, New York City.

Preparation for the printing of the Preliminary Program in April begins around the first of the year; therefore, the sooner suggestions are received, the more likely they are to receive full consideration. Paper suggestions are welcomed by the Program Committee until December 1, 1977; offers to appear as discussants for panels or papers may write directly to the appropriate section chairperson, to Professor Elinor Ostrom (Department of Political Science, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana 47401), who is the 1978 Program Chairperson, or to Elizabeth E. Horton, Convention Coordinator, APSA, 1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

One panel in each section of the 1978 Program will focus upon a general theme of critical tensions in political science and public affairs. Vincent Ostrom (Indiana University) is the coordinator of the general theme sessions.

Note: Members of the 1978 Program Committee listed below are subject to APSA Council approval.

Section 1. Political Philosophy: Wilson Carey McWilliams, Department of Political Science, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey 08903.

STATECRAFT

An Introduction to Political Choice and Judgment

Charles W. Anderson,
University of Wisconsin-Madison

This decision-making approach to political analysis and problem solving emphasizes the viewpoint of the participant rather than that of the observer. Anderson takes into account the role of the policy maker, then the role of the advocate—to show how one should go about making a decision concerning a controversial problem and defending that decision with reasoned arguments. An ideal text for Introduction to Politics and other courses on policy.

PEOPLE AND POLITICS

An Introduction to Political Science

Herbert R. Winter, Rhode Island College &
Thomas J. Bellows, University of Arkansas—in collaboration with Conrad Waligorski, University of Arkansas & Stanley Erikson, Professor Emeritus, Augustana College

This comparative examination of political phenomena combines the traditional aspects of the discipline with an understanding of modern empirical approaches. This systems approach permits the use of political features common to all societies and serves as a starting point for analysis and discussion.

(0 471 95485-3) 1977 514 pp. $12.95

POLITICS IN INDUSTRIAL SOCIETIES

A Comparative Perspective

Lawrence C. Mayer with John H. Burnett, both of Texas Tech University

This book presents a comparative analysis of various Western European industrialized societies by describing and explaining their political structures. The authors suggest cultural, sociological, and historical variables as determinants of patterns in these societies, and explore the effects of technology on constitutional differences.

(0 471 57986-6) 1977 388 pp. $11.95

CONTEMPORARY ISSUES

IN POLITICAL THEORY

Robert Booth Fowler, University of Wisconsin-Madison, & Jeffrey R. Orenstein, Kent State University, Stark Campus

This contemporary approach to theory covers the major topics that fit the scheme of political values—anarchy, democracy, justice, liberty and equality, obligation, and revolt—discussing their historical roots to evaluate their present-day significance.

(0 471 27032-6) $5.95 paper

ADMINISTRATION IN THE

PUBLIC SECTOR

Harold F. Gortner, Indiana University

Public administrators must understand the functions of management in guiding the public organization—and at the same time know how to operate within the political system. Gortner gives proper cognizance to this increasingly important role of state and local public administrators in the overall administrative operation. (0 471 31891-4) 1977 343 pp. $11.95

AMERICAN LEGAL PROCESSES

William P. McLauchlan, Purdue University
A volume in the Wiley Series: Viewpoints on American Politics—Samuel Krislov, Series Editor

What really goes on in the American courtroom? What is the court's role in society? What is the difference between trial and appellate courts? These are only a few of the questions that McLauchlan answers in this complete description of the American legal system. He treats the courtroom as one great dispute-settling arena and examines the roles of the plaintiff and defendant in civil litigation.

OFFENSE AND DEFENSE

IN THE INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM

George H. Quester, Cornell University
A volume in the Wiley Series on International Relations—Richard Rosecrance, Series Editor

Tracing the overall impact of military technology through chronological history, this book presents a systematic study of how military force determines the shape of politics. Quester uses a macrocosmic approach to examine the tendency toward offense or defense, and cites particular military campaigns and technological innovations that have affected warfare throughout the centuries.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

A Policymaker Focus

Robert L. Wendzel, University of Maine

Using a policymaking approach, this book provides a concise core analysis of the fundamentals of international relations. Wendzel offers an actual feel for the feasible options which should be pursued in specific situations, giving a pragmatic analytical framework for viewing current and future problems that policymakers face.

Behind the Scenes in American Government Personalities and Politics

Peter Woll

Brandeis University

The premise of this unique reader is that the character and style of political leaders and the people around them have a profound impact on the political process. Culled from popular periodicals and best-selling books, Woll's selections show how different personalities interact with political institutions and processes to shape government. Each piece underscores an important concept in American political structure or process. Instructor's Manual available. Paper 316 pages 1977 $5.95

War, Peace, and International Politics

David W. Ziegler

Western Washington State College

Organized around the dramatic theme of war and its prevention, this new text provides an unusually coherent introduction to the basic concepts and propositions of international politics. Ziegler's goal in writing for beginning students in international relations was not encyclopedic scope or methodological sophistication, but genuine readability. His central theme focuses students' attention and provides a convenient way of introducing topics such as international law and organization, diplomacy, defense policy, deterrence, nationalism, transnational influences, and the problems of global resources. Instructor's Manual available. Paper 444 pages 1977 $8.95

America in the Seventies Problems, Policies, and Politics

Allan P. Sindler

University of California, Berkeley

Six original case studies, all written by top experts in their respective fields, deal with the major institutions of national government—Congress, Presidency, Courts, Parties, and Bureaucracy—as they grapple with the policies and processes of major importance in the 1970s. The contributors include Norman Ornstein, Fred Greenstein, David Kirp, Austin Ranney, Thomas Cronin, and Allan Sindler. Each case focuses on a particular institution or policy, but remains sensitive to the broader play of forces that shape politics and policymaking in America.

Paper 329 pages 1977 $6.95

Politics in West Germany

Second Edition

Lewis J. Edinger

Columbia University

Lewis Edinger's analysis of contemporary West German politics places public policy processes in the Federal Republic in the context of the comparative analysis of advanced industrial societies. The book is based on materials drawn from recent German studies, extensive interviews with West German leaders, opinion polls, census data, and newspaper accounts. Historical background is included only to the extent that it bears on contemporary politics.

New 1978 — STATE AND LOCAL POLITICS, Second Edition.

David R. Berman, Arizona State University. This completely rewritten text retains its brief but comprehensive analysis of contemporary state and local government. All of the policy chapters have been up-dated, and emphasis on the individual decision-maker has been increased. Other new topics include state and local policy-making, devices of direct democracy, ethics, EEO, and crime prevention. Featured are new chapter previews and summaries, more marginal notes, and extensive use of charts. Available for February, 1978, est. 350 pp.

New 1978 — CASES IN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION.

Joseph A. Uveges, Jr., Western Kentucky University. This topically organized collection of cases emphasizes the links between public policy-making and public management. Each of the five sections has a brief introduction and is followed by study questions. Taking into account current growth trends, the case-book focuses primarily on state and local levels of government. The cases, many of which are taken from professional journals, include both policy-oriented and management-oriented situations. Available for January, 1978, est 380 pp.

New 1978 — THE DIMENSIONS OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION: Introductory Readings, Third Edition.

Joseph A. Uveges, Jr., Western Kentucky University. Thoroughly up-dated, this well-structured reader provides a timely, balanced collection of articles on public policy and public management. An added section covers federalism and its relationship to public policy. Each section contains at least one article demonstrating a facet of the formulation or application of public policy. Material reflecting the current administration's interest in new budgeting techniques and agency reorganization is included. 1978, est. 500 pp.

Now available — AMERICAN POLITICS, POLICIES AND PRIORITIES, Second Edition.

Alan Shank, State University of New York, Geneseo. A comprehensive selection of readings, providing an overview of American government at the introductory level. 1977, 583 pp.

THE EMERGENCE OF PROFESSIONAL SOCIAL SCIENCE

The American Social Science Association and the Nineteenth-Century Crisis of Authority

Thomas L. Haskell. "... an outstanding monograph, which makes a major contribution to the intellectual history of the late nineteenth century. It is not only a history of the ASSA [examined from 1865 to 1909] and an interpretation of professional communities, it is also a venturesome reassessment of the intellectual 'revolution' that took place around the end of the nineteenth century and laid the foundations of modern social thought."—John Higham, Johns Hopkins University. 344 pages. $12.00.

INTERPRETERS FOR NIGERIA

The Third World and International Public Relations

Morris Davis. A well-reasoned interpretative apparatus for the Nigerian-Biafran political struggle is offered in this appraisal of what happened when deliberate, planned, and sustained efforts were made to influence public opinion on a world scale. Analyzes professional strategies and performances of nine public relations firms. 205 pages. $10.00.

Freedom and the Court

Civil Rights and Liberties in the United States

Third Edition

HENRY J. ABRAHAM, University of Virginia. □ The third edition of this well-known text articulates the role of the United States Supreme Court in its continuing endeavor to define and delimit the rights of the individual and of the state in our democratic society. Particular emphasis is placed on major issues of public law, such as freedom of expression, racial and political equality, criminal justice, and religion.

Carr and Bernstein's

AMERICAN DEMOCRACY, Eighth Edition

WALTER MURPHY, MICHAEL DANIELSON, Princeton University

Retaining their authoritative treatment of American government and politics, the authors have collaborated to make this Eighth Edition more comprehensive, more up-to-date, and more appealing to today's students.

In addition to improved readability, greater use of graphic materials, a completely revised Instructor's Manual, and other new features—the following significant additions have been made to reflect contemporary developments:

- Public policy emphasis
- Recent rulings of the Supreme Court
- Watergate and its aftermath, stressing relations between Congress and the President
- Revenue sharing and the evolution of fiscal federalism
- Emphasis on urbanization and "suburbanization" and their effects on the formulation of public policy
- Congressional reform and significant changes in the composition of Congress

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT: Incomplete Conquest, Brief Edition

THEODORE J. LOWI, Cornell University

A new, brief (475 pages), paperback edition of the bestselling text AMERICAN GOVERNMENT: Incomplete Conquest. Using the thesis that government is best understood within the framework of conquest and control, this text provides a fascinating introduction to American institutions, politics, and processes.

Features:

- Each chapter of the original text has been carefully reviewed, and all but two (Chapters 1 & 14) have been reduced in length
- Complete coverage through the 1976 Presidential Election
- A total instructional package is available, including: Instructor's Manual, Study Guide, Card File Test Bank, Filmstrip and a special taped interview with the author.

KOREAN PHOENIX:

A Nation from the Ashes
By Michael Keon

*Park Chung Hee
South Korea's leader
since 1961*

Here is the just-published story of the heroic survival of a people, constantly beset by larger nations bent on domination. Far East expert Michael Keon illuminates the effect of the past upon the present... traces the role of dynamic leadership under President Park Chung Hee in the modernization of a nation... and shows how the new Korea has, Phoenix-like, risen triumphantly from its own ashes.

The American Political Science Association

PERSONNEL SERVICE

The American Political Science Association's Personnel Service operates as a clearinghouse, bringing together political scientists seeking positions and prospective employers. Registration in the service is open to members of the Association and to Political Science Departments. Membership in the Service, which includes a subscription to the monthly Newsletter, is $8.00 per year. Membership in the Credential Referral Service of the Personnel Service is an additional $8.00.

NEWSLETTER

A Newsletter, listing openings for political scientists including teaching, administrative and research openings, is mailed monthly to all Personnel Service members. Positions are listed by institution with a brief description of each opening.

CREDENTIAL REFERRAL SERVICE

A file will be maintained at the Association office for all members of the Credential Referral Service. This file will include a resume, a dissertation abstract and/or a list of publications, and up to three letters of reference for each member. Referrals are made upon the request of a member or of an institution.

EMPLOYERS USING THE SERVICE

The Association's Council has adopted a policy that it is a professional obligation of all political science departments to list publicly all vacancies in the APSA Personnel Service Newsletter for which they are recruiting at the Instructor, Assistant and Associate Professor levels. In addition, the listing of openings at the Full Professor level is strongly encouraged. Employers who are not Departmental Services Program members are charged the following for each position: $25.00, first listing; $15.00, second listing; $10.00, third listing. Forms for listing openings in the Newsletter are available from the Personnel Service.

SCHOLARS

Ray S. Cline, former Deputy Director of the CIA, in his intense new book SECRETS, SPIES AND SCHOLARS: Blueprint for the Essential CIA sanely traces the history of the American intelligence community through its triumphs as well as its disasters... and argues that while there is still a need for some spies "out in the cold"—up to 75% of the intelligence collected by the CIA could be made public!

WARTIME ORIGINS OF THE BERLIN DILEMMA

Daniel J. Nelson

A fascinating, detailed account of how and why the Allies became impaled on the horns of the Berlin dilemma. The focal point of the inquiry is the European Advisory Commission, the inter-Allied body in London that in 1944 and 1945 negotiated and signed the protocols establishing the postwar status of Berlin and the zones of occupation in Germany. Highly revelatory is the author's use of the previously unpublished correspondence of Ambassador John Winant.

BLACKS AND THE POPULIST REVOLT

Ballots and Bigotry in the New South

Gerald H. Gaither

In theory, Populism was to be a monolithic coalition of special class interest recognizing no racial or regional boundaries. In fact, against a backdrop of concern over racial values, Populism practiced economic and political reform and social inequality and crystallized Booker T. Washington's separate-but-equal doctrine.

ISSUE VOTING AND PARTY REALIGNMENT

Donald S. Strong

An excellent brief overview of the current concerns in research on voting behavior, party identification among voters, and the possible realignment of the socioeconomic bases of party support among the electorate as a result of the emergence of new issues, new voters, and new sets of attitudes toward the functions of parties and government.

EMERGENCY EMPLOYMENT: A STUDY IN FEDERALISM

Howard W. Hallman

A timely study of one of the means by which government can attempt to cope with unemployment. Hallman deals in great detail with the Emergency Employment Act of 1971. He traces the legislative history of the act, the role of lobbyists, and the intricate relationships within Congress and between the legislative and executive branches; describes how the administration of the program unfolded within the federal bureaucracy and what happened within state and local governments; and finally sets forth the results of the whole 1969-1973 experience and brings the story up-to-date in a penetrating discussion of the current status and future prospects of emergency-employment programs.

POLICY ANALYSIS

What Governments Do, Why They Do It, and What Difference It Makes

Thomas R. Dye

In this well informed, challenging critique, the author contends that research on cities, states, and nations reveals that social and economic conditions have far more direct impact on public policy than the structure or form of governmental institutions or political processes.

MODERN ORGANIZATION

Victor A. Thompson

This classic text, available in paperback for the first time, shows how insecurity and friction develop in modern organizations when bureaucrats who have the right to make decisions lack the ability to do so and fall into patterns of "bureaupathic" behavior. Automaton conformity, exaggerated dependence upon regulations and quantitative standards, and the "need" to control -- these predominate among the many forms of bureaupathic behavior.

PROSKAUER: HIS LIFE AND TIMES

Louis M. Hacker and Mark D. Hirsch

A lawyer and New York State Supreme Court judge, Proskauer, as president of the American Jewish Committee, played a key role in liaison between Chaim Weizmann and President Truman, leading to American support for an Israeli nation. Later, as an emissary to Pope John XXIII and Vatican II, he worked with Papal representatives for repudiation of the infamous concept of Jewish deicide.

New Volume!

Congress and the Nation, Volume IV: 1973-1976
October 1977. Approx. 1,200 pages, 8½" x 11". $49.50

Congress and the Nation is a comprehensive summary and review of legislative, political and presidential developments since 1945. With the publication of Volume IV: 1973-1976, the series distills into 5,500 pages thirty-two years of Congressional Quarterly's authoritative reporting of Capitol Hill. Congress and the Nation now recounts and places in historical perspective all significant activities in government and politics during the administrations of Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon and Ford. It provides summaries of all major legislation, key Supreme Court opinions, as well as biographical data on members of Congress and coverage of elections and politics.

Orders now being accepted for Congress and the Nation, Volume IV to ensure immediate delivery upon publication.

AMERICAN DEFENSE POLICY
edited by John E. Endicott and Roy W. Stafford

FOR COURSE USE

from reviews of previous editions

"This book is an attempt to assemble in one volume a representative selection of the recent extensive American writings on defense matters: it succeeds brilliantly and, in a field in which the student and the policy-maker can equally become bogged down in the sheer volume of words, its editors have done a considerable public service by concise compilation." — International Affairs

"In American Defense Policy there is not only a wide lateral coverage ranging through the major aspects of the spectrum of confrontation, but there is a welcome depth of historical perspective imparted by many of the selections." — The Western Political Quarterly

"Would make useful reading for any college course in international politics and post-World War II history." — Military Affairs

The fourth edition places greater emphasis on:

- A more systematic account of the evolution of U.S. strategy
- arms control, including SALT
- the defense policy-making process
- changing cultural factors (concepts of honor, military uniforms, the role of women)

The Military Coup d'Etat as a Political Process

Ecuador, 1948-1966

John S. Fitch, III

What triggers a coup? Can one point to a common denominator in all cases? Since 1948 Ecuador has experienced five military overthrows of its government. Using this country as a "laboratory," John S. Fitch provides a conceptual framework for the coup d'etat. The Johns Hopkins University Studies in Historical and Political Science October. $16.50

Outstanding 1978 Texts... Available Soon from Prentice-Hall

GOVERNMENT BY THE PEOPLE, 10th Edition

James MacGregor Burns — Williams College; J. W. Peltason — University of Illinois; Thomas E. Cronin — Brandeis University

Meaningful revision of a classical American government text. Dynamic work which describes, dissects, and assesses both the governmental system and key political and policy processes. Updated, new edition includes provocative new themes, broadened perspectives, and expanded coverage in relevant areas.

The 10th Edition will be available in three separate versions: The Basic Edition, The National Edition, The National-State-Local Edition.

WHAT IS GOVERNING?

Richard Rose — University of Strathclyde, Scotland

Carefully structured, tightly organized, and well-written work on American Politics. Examines more than a dozen questions and answers as to what the purpose of governing is today. Relevant and current examples of material under discussion make it easy to relate ideas to the problems students see in government.

THE CLASH OF ISSUES: READINGS AND PROBLEMS IN AMERICAN GOVERNMENT, 6th Edition

James A. Burkhardt — Stephens College; Samuel Krislov — University of Minnesota; Raymond L. Lee — University of Pennsylvania

Substantial revision of a highly successful anthology regarding American government. Brings all the controversy of the contemporary political scene into the classroom. Presents a well-balanced approach to governmental structure and process and on issues, policy making, and political personalities. New material presented includes: the energy crisis, environmental deterioration, the making of public policy, the new federalism, revenue sharing, and the present Supreme Court.

nited States Political Science Documents

(USPSD)

A Unique & Comprehensive Reference Guide for Researchers in the Political & Policy Sciences.

WHAT IS IT?

The University Center for International Studies, University of Pittsburgh, in conjunction with the American Political Science Assn., has created an annual reference publication designed especially for scholars and educators doing research in the social and policy sciences. United States Political Science Documents (USPSD) is a quality reference tool to assist in your search for appropriate literature among the ever-increasing pool of source materials pertaining to your special area of interest. USPSD contains abstracts of articles published in 124 selected U.S. journals as well as a set of five indexes to these documents and a "Rotated Subject Descriptor Display."

USE OF THE INDEXES

USPSD is published in two separate parts. The first part contains the indexes and the second part the document descriptions. Each entry in the indexes supplies the name(s) of an article's author(s), its title, and its complete journal citation. Each entry also supplies a document accession number through which the full description of a document can be found in the second part, where the document descriptions are listed in ascending sequence by document number.

In USPSD the identification of articles of possible relevance is accomplished by consulting one or all of the five indexes: Author/Contributor Index, Subject Index, Geographic Area Index, Proper Name Index, or the Journal Index. A reader of USPSD, then, can search for literature written by a specific author, devoted to a specific subject (such as "southeast asia"), discussing a specific organization (such as "department of defense"), or published in a specific journal. Also included to facilitate use of the Subject Index is a Rotated Subject Descriptor Display.

THE DOCUMENT DESCRIPTIONS

The provision of information which can be used to decide whether or not a document should be looked up is accomplished in USPSD through an in-depth document description scheme. This scheme furnishes as many as nine separate items of information about a document: author(s), title, journal citation, abstract of contents, names of special features (figures, tables, etc.), names of cited persons, key subject descriptors, key geographic area descriptors, and proper names.

THE PUBLICATION

United States Political Science Documents is the published version of the contents of a computer-based information system developed by the University Center for International Studies, University of Pittsburgh, in conjunction with the American Political Science Association. The first edition was published in January of this year and contained 2,494 documents derived from journals published during 1975. The current volume of USPSD, Volume 2, has a publication date of August 1977 and covers 2,824 articles published during 1976. Volume 3 is currently in production and is scheduled for availability during July 1978, encompassing approximately 3,000 documents.

PRICES-DISCOUNTS

The 1975 edition of USPSD, containing abstracted articles published during 1975, is priced at $90 ($75 for members of APSA). The price for the 1976 edition is $105 ($90 for members of APSA). The 1977 edition will be priced at $120 but orders received prior to December 31, 1977, can take advantage of a substantial discount. When ordering both the 1975 and 1976 editions simultaneously, deduct $40 from the total price—$155 for both volumes. When ordering all three volumes at once, deduct $80 from the total cost—$235 for all three publications. You already have the 1975 edition? Then order the 1976 and 1977 editions together for $180—$45 off the individual price. We want you to examine and use USPSD. We know you'll find it a most useful and comprehensive publication.

Not for the Poor Alone

European Social Services

ALFRED J. KAHN and SHELIA B. KAMERMAN

"An absorbing first-hand appraisal of innovative government programs that have developed in Western Europe over the past several decades to improve the quality of life. Home health care in England, housing for the aged in Sweden, and government-subsidized vacations in France are representative of the topics presented. The study is balanced, nonemotional, well written, and judiciously researched."

The Age of Bureaucracy

Perspectives on the Political Sociology of Max Weber

WOLFGANG J. MOMMSEN

"MommSEN's critical judgment is accurate because it springs from genuine understanding, and, to use an old-fashioned word, sympathy. While pointing out the dilemma of Weber as a prophet without disciples, he acknowledges the depth of his prophetic insight—the growth and inhumanity of modern bureaucracies, the asphyxiation of religion and other worldly values by the universal process of rationalization, and the potential for political oppression in the modern state."

Government Secrecy in Democracies

ITZHAK GALNOOR, Editor

"This book is an important step forward. The first six essays indicate the wide range of related subjects. . . . The second part is a descriptive analysis of how secrecy is treated in ten democratic states. . . . the essays analyze how different democratic systems cope with the same phenomena and the methods they have adopted."

Organized Labor in Latin America

Historical Case Studies of Urban Workers in Dependent Societies

HOBART A. SPALDING JR.

"The persistence of workers to organize and fight to improve their lives remains constant throughout Latin American labor history. These pages record their struggle for a new and more just society. . . . Every action, every episode, sometimes recorded in a single line, reference, or footnote, involved real people, each with hopes, angers, and aspirations." —from the Introduction

Idols of the Tribe

Group Identity and Political Change

HAROLD R. ISAACS

"This is a splendid book, doing for the subject of group identity what Erikson has done for individual identity. Brilliantly written, it synthesizes a vast body of material and speaks directly to a central problem of our time: ethnicity. Poignantly, Isaacs deals with the dilemmas of universality and particularity and their opposing tugs on our hearts and minds. It is a book written out of deep personal experience and profound intellectual reflection." —BRUCE MAZLISH or public policy courses...

AMERICAN PUBLIC POLICY

WHAT GOVERNMENT DOES AND WHAT DIFFERENCE IT MAKES

ROBERT L. LINEBERRY

This introductory public policy text focuses on the twin themes of policy analysis and the application of policy to key political issues. Using a two-part format, the book first discusses theories and methods of domestic policy analysis and then covers application of these techniques in four areas: cities, crime, inequality, and the management of scarcity. The text also covers contemporary issues such as the Equal Rights Amendment, civil rights, and aging. Tentative: 320 pages; $6.95/paper. August 1977. ISBN 0-06-044013-9.

POWER, POLICY, AND PARTICIPATION AN INTRODUCTION TO AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

KENNETH SHERRILL and DAVID VOGLER

This well-balanced text provides a provocative forum for active reader participation and informed analytical thinking. Equal weight is given to solid descriptive and historical information and to important questions raised by contemporary research. Recent trends, methods, and research in the field—including previously unpublished data on mass behavior—are carefully incorporated. Chapter-length discussions of democratic theory, centralization and decentralization, strategies of influence, and the criminal justice system are also included. Tentative: 544 pages; $10.95. September 1977. ISBN 0-06-046119-5. Instructor's Manual.

THE IRONY OF DEMOCRACY: AN UNCOMMON INTRODUCTION TO AMERICAN POLITICS

Fourth Edition

by Thomas R. Dye, Florida State University and L. Harmon Zeigler, University of Oregon

When IRONY was first published in 1970, it brought something unique to American government teaching literature — a reinterpretation of American politics from the view point of elite theory. It has since become a standard — adopted by nearly 2,000 colleges and universities in its first three editions. New to the fourth edition: an entire chapter on "The Newsmakers"; a whole new look at "Protest Movements"; an expanded discussion of the role of the voter in shaping public policy; a thorough discussion of the rapid rise to power of Jimmy Carter — "A New Smile on the Face of the Establishment". Rewritten to simplify presentation; new format with expanded use of graphics.

January 1978. 7 3/8" × 9 1/4". 512 pages. Paperbound. Instructor's Manual with graded test items.

Also by Zeigler

THE QUEST FOR RESPONSIVE GOVERNMENT: AN INTRODUCTION TO STATE AND LOCAL POLITICS

by L. Harmon Zeigler and Harvey Tucker, University of Oregon

How responsive are state and local governments to demands made upon them, and to whom are they responsive? Zeigler and Tucker present overwhelming evidence that state and local governments are not responsive to the people whom they represent. Consistent with the new movement in political science to evaluate as well as understand governmental processes and institutions, THE QUEST...represents a bold evaluation of state and local politics. A provocative and iconoclastic text that runs counter-grain to mainstream state and local government scholarship.

December 1977. 6 3/8" × 9 1/4". 350 pages. Paperbound.

UNDERSTANDING INTERGOVERNMENTAL RELATIONS

by Deil Wright, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

A brief but thorough treatment of intergovernmental relations with specific focus on public policy issues and the roles of participating officials in local, state and national government. Appropriate as a core text for courses in federalism and intergovernmental relations or as a supplement for courses in public administration, state and local government and/or American government.

March 1978. 6 3/8" × 9 1/4". 200 pages. Paperbound.

PUBLIC POLICY AND POLITICS IN AMERICA

by James Anderson and David Brady, University of Houston, and Charles Bullock, University of Georgia

A comprehensive new text for entry level courses in American politics and/or public policy. This book analyzes the making and content of American domestic policies — extensive coverage of key areas such as energy, consumerism, health and welfare, economic policy, education, agriculture all set in a readily teachable "policy study" framework.

February 1978. 6 1/2" x 9 1/4". 420 pages. Clothbound.

and continuing as a best-seller...

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY OF PUBLIC POLICY

Second Edition

by Charles O. Jones, University of Pittsburgh

A natural complement to the Anderson/Brady/Bullock text with its attention to specific policy issues.

January 1977. 5 7/8" x 9". 272 pages. Paperbound.

INTRODUCTION TO PUBLIC BUDGETING

by John Wanat, University of Kentucky

Through an exposition of what budgets are, how they are made, how they are passed, and who and in what way is involved in them, this text gives a comprehensive, up-to-date presentation of the government spending process. Ideal as a core text for a first course in public budgeting, or as a supplement to courses in public administration, or American government.

February 1978. 6 1/2" x 9 1/4". 220 pages. Paperbound.

THE PEOPLE, MAYBE

Third Edition

by Karl Lamb, Cowell College, University of California, Santa Cruz

A welcome and time-tested departure from standard texts on American Government — THE PEOPLE, MAYBE raises the fundamental questions about the American system... Can the people rule? Do they? Will they rule wisely?... in the context of contemporary events and a close look at institutions. The style is literate and dramatic: the "images" section of each chapter recreates the drama of politics, providing a sense of excitement and involvement lacking in most texts; the "reflections" section of each chapter provides detailed and painless coverage of the nature and history of institutions. Streamlined organization.

March 1978. 7 3/4" x 9 1/4". 556 pages. Clothbound. Study Guide and Instructor's Manual by Len Shipman, Mt. San Antonio College, available with text.

POWER AND POLITICS IN AMERICA, Third Edition

by Leonard Freedman, University of California, Los Angeles

A unique approach to the introductory study of American government presenting alternative, contrasting assessments of the American system: a Centrist case for the system, and Liberal and Conservative critiques of the system as it is now operating. Provides the student with a more provocative approach than the bland descriptiveness of many texts. At the same time, the book is more balanced than the "single point of view" books, and enables students to shape their own interpretations rather than merely absorb the author's views. Thoroughly reworked to simplify written presentation; heightened graphic appeal.

Spring 1978. 6 1/2" x 9 1/4". 600 pages. Clothbound. Instructor's Manual.

POLITICS AND STRUCTURE: THE ESSENTIALS OF AMERICAN NATIONAL GOVERNMENT, Second Edition

by Thomas G. Ingersoll, West Virginia University and Robert E. O'Connor, Pennsylvania State University

Gives students the "nuts and bolts" information they need for a basic understanding of our political system and its operation. In-depth coverage of political institutions not merely as organizational charts and lists of authority, but as intricate networks of bargaining points in the political process. A single case study is developed throughout the text in order to show the "institutions in action".

Spring 1978. 6 1/2" x 9 1/4". 220 pages. Paperbound. Instructor's Manual.

CONCEIVED IN LIBERTY: AMERICAN INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS TODAY

by Ellis Sandoz, East Texas State University

A highly literate introductory survey of American civil liberties. For beginning students.

Spring 1978. 6 1/2" x 9 1/4". 200 pages. Paperbound.

AMERICAN POLITICS AND THE CONSTITUTION

by Thomas G. Walker, Emory University

The purpose of this brief and engaging volume is to demonstrate the significance of the Constitution to the political process of the United States. Key Supreme Court cases introduce each chapter and are given life, and context, for the beginning American government student.

Spring 1978. 6 1/2" x 9 1/4". 176 pages. Paperbound.

GLOBAL ECOPOLITICS by Dennis Pirages, University of Maryland

A highly praised "new generation" text for courses on international politics. Cross-disciplinary focus on energy and resources, population and food, multinational corporations, etc.

Spring 1978. 6 1/2" x 9 1/4". 352 pages. Paperbound.

Dear Mr. Ryan:

Thank you for your letter of 1 August and for your invitation to speak at the fund-raising dinner in October or early November. While I greatly appreciate your thinking of me, my schedule is so crowded that I am unable to accept any additional commitments into the foreseeable future. I must therefore decline your kind invitation.

My belated congratulations on your election and best wishes for every success in the future.

Yours sincerely,

/s/ Stansfield Turner

Dear Mr. Turner:

May I introduce myself? I am the newly elected Democratic State's Attorney of Lake County, Illinois, your former home - the first Democrat in 130 years to hold this office in a county which has moved up behind Cook County as the third largest Democratic voting population in the State of Illinois.

As a former Highland Park resident, you undoubtedly know that the Democrats in our county are vitally interested in restoring public confidence in the integrity of our government agencies. My election as a Democrat in the county would support this idea.

As you can well imagine, my campaign for State's Attorney cost a great deal of money and left a substantial deficit which I would like to erase.

To do this, I am planning to have a fund-raising dinner in October or early November to celebrate my first year in office. It would be an honor to have you present at that occasion. I think you will find that Lake Countians would be receptive to your ideas and your comments on current issues. I hope that you will find some time at your convenience during the time mentioned. Your presence at this event would be most appreciated by Lake County Democrats, and of course, I will be personally grateful.

Is there any further information you would like? Please call on me!

Very truly yours,

Dennis P. Ryan
State's Attorney
of Lake County
