Dear [Redacted]

Congressman Wright Patman has written me expressing his appreciation for your contribution to the Joint Economic Committee's recent study on Soviet Economic Prospects for the Seventies, and specifically for your valuable and original work on Soviet industry and on the important problem of Soviet agriculture. I just want to add my thanks for a fine job. As you of course know, foreign economic subjects are of increasing importance to the entire Government. I am pleased to see that the Agency's unique capabilities in that area are being put to work to help the policy-makers in both the Legislative and Executive branches.

Sincerely,

/s/ W. E. Colby
