2. SOKOLOW:

The town served as a local medical centre. There was a hospital with 200/250 beds and one perating theatre. At the end of 1954 the head of this hospital was Ir OBERC who died in 1955. The name of his successor is not known.

3. KOLBUSZOWA:

- (a) The hospital in KOLBUSZOWO (for location and lay-out see Sketche tttached) was a one storey brick building equipped almost entirely from UNRRA supplies. This included instruments, bedding and linen.

 Director of the hospital Dr KRZALEWSKI stanislaw Other doctors working at the hospital Dr ADAMUS Dr ZIOLO
- (b) The hospital received all supplies of medicine from RZESZOW, to which centre it was subordinate. There was no bood donors' bank at the hospital, and blood was also received from RZESZOW, in fluid form.
- (c) The penicillin used at the hospital was mainly of Polish manufacture, delivered in units of 300,000 and 600,000.

 Very little use was made of penicillin in form of pills or lozenges as both doctors and patients were sceptical about its effectiveness. There was a tendency to abuse penicillin, as there was always plenty of it. There was no Russian penicillin at the hospital

there is

Polish streptomycin produced in laboratory quantities.

Auromycin and terramycin is freely available in Poland, but only at dispensaries dealing in imported medicines.

- (d) In spite of press reports, there was no shortage of medical supplies in Poland. There was, however, a great shortage of medical equipment.
- (e) Isotopes are not used at all in provincial hospitals, nor have any instructions been received on how to use them.
