

14 February 1980

The number of Soviet military and civilian personnel in Cuba was estimated to be between 8,600 and 14,000 last fall. The maximum figure has risen since then because of our reevaluation of the number of military advisors in the Kohly district of Havana.

Brigade personnel	2,600-3,000
Lourdes complex	1,500
Military advisors	2,000-4,000
Civilian advisors	6,000-8,000
Total	12,100-16,500
