1. The Movimiento pro Union Republicana Latina de America held its first conference in Montevideo in April 1945. Present at the conference were high officials of the Uruguayan Government as well as representatives of many American and some European countries. Henry Wallace was among those individuals who sent statements of their agreement with the movement.
2. Discussed at the meeting was the subject of world peace, which, the conferees agreed, must be based on democratic regimes and the safeguard of the rights of man. Pan-Americanism was defended as a continental organization, but it too must be grounded on democratic regimes. The Franco regime of Spain was condemned.
3. An organizing commission, created at the conference, was composed of the following individuals:

- | | |
|-------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Nicolas Cilli | -- Argentina, Secretary General |
| Augusto Barcia | -- Spain |
| Paulino Nogueira | -- Brazil |
| Justo Prieto | -- Paraguay |
| Fernando Araneda | -- Chile |
| Paul Bernichou | -- France |
| Curio Chiaraviglio | -- Italy |
| Vicente Grucci | -- Uruguay |
| Jose P. Cardozo | -- Uruguay |
| Carlos Sanchez Viamonte | -- Argentina |
| Susana Larguia | -- Argentina |

4. Since this conference the group has displayed little activity. Ideologically it affirms liberal and leftist sentiments, and has had no contact with Communists. The movement has no relationship with the Union Continental Ibero-Americana and the Accion Chilena-Argentina
