Comment.

- (1) This shipment is probably consigned to the clothing depot of the Third Shock Army in Schneisebeck.
- (2) The existence of such a place is unknown. There is a possibility that the place name should actually read Stredokluky near Hostivice which is 25 km west of Prague. In Hostivice there is a civil airfield. It has previously been observed that fuel shipments were dispatched from Bruenau to civil airfields in Czechoslovakia, which are probably used by Soviet air lines.
- (3) Slavice is on the Heidebreck-Gleiwitz line in Polish-occupied Upper Silesia.
- (4) Hohenau is 10 km northeast of Zistersdorf on the Vienna-Lundenburg-Brno line.
- (5) Dobermannsdorf is a railroad station 8 km north of Zistersdorf in Austria.
- (6) The shipments via Frankfurt/Oder consisted of deliveries by Soviet Zone hydro-generation plants to the U.S.S.R. and returning empty railroad tank cars. Shipment via Scheune to Stettin will be transloaded there for shipment to the U.S.S.R. Fuel shipment via Forst go to Poland, and the Bad Schandau and Bad Brambach border crossing points handle topped crude oil imports from Austria.
