MAJOR DRUG SMUGGLING RING DISCOVERED IN BHOPAL

Calcutta THE STATESMAN in English 20 Jul 81 p 11

[Text]

BHOPAL, July 19.—A chance seizure of morphine on May 13, valued at Rs 8 lakhs, from the house of an employee of the Neemuch alkalide factory has led to the discovery of what is apparently a major drug smuggling ring in existence for some years.

The main man in the long chain is yet to be identified. Meanwhile, the State Criminal Investigation Department has requested the Central Bureau of Investigation to take custody of the arrested employee. Mr Lateef in whose house 21 kgs of semi-refined morphine were reportedly found. He is alleged to have confessed that the racket has been in existence since August 1980, while claiming total ignorance about the quantity of morphine smuggled out of the factory and the man behind it.

Though Mr Lateef was arrested along with four others, a fifth man, called Santosh, a dismissed employee, is still absconding. Santosh, who has taken anticipatory bail, has now been described as Mr Lateef's "contact man" but where the chain will ultimately end is not known.

At first, factory officials claimed that the morphine was not theirs. Later, however, they are said to have accepted that that morphine could be from the factory.

Authorities investigating the seizure are convinced that the morphine could not have gone out, considering the heavy security, without the connivance of high security officials.

The morphine find has raised a number of possible leads, some of them mainly in the realm of speculation. In fact an inexperienced State CID team went all the way to Punjab only to return empty handed. All those connected with the investigation, including the Narcotics Commissioner's office, appear to be still groping in the dark. The reason is that the morphine catch is the biggest in Neemuch in Mandsaur district, which is normally known for its roaring opium smuggling since it is the country's biggest opium growing area.

Two possibilities are being discussed. One is that that the morphine would be smuggled out through the several illicit factories in the country where morphine is converted into heroin. The other possibility is that the morphine may be smuggled out of the country.

The allegations of smuggling from the factory itself are not new. Mr R. K. Pathak, a labour leader and now a dismissed employee, claims that he had written to the Finance Ministry as early as 1978, saying that there was large-scale smuggling going on. It appears that about 2½ years ago about 1 kg of morphine was found in a place in the factory where it was not supposed to be. Since there were no claimants, the factory authorities merely restored the morphine and did not even order an inquiry.

In one security check, an employee was found to Rs 9,000 in cash, but his explanation that he had won the money through gambling was accepted.

There was a 40-day strike in October 1979 and one of the main demands was that there should be a CBI probe into the large-scale smuggling from the factory. The Central Industrial Security Force is guarding the factory, but the servants in the residences of the managers and the general manager which are inside the compound, do not like to be subjected to checks.

DOG SNIFFS OUT OPIUM--Kuala Lumpur, 30 July--The Malaysian customs anti-narcotics dog unit scored a major success when one of the dogs sniffed out 100 pounds of raw opium from a car in Changloon near the Thai-Malaysian border yesterday. A customs spokesman said the opium, hidden in secret compartments behind the back seat of the car, was worth 70,000 Malaysian dollars (33,000 US) in the local market and about one million dollars (450,000 US) in the international black market. The driver of the car, a hairstylist, and his passenger, a mechanic, both 21, from Penang, in North Malaysia, were detained for questioning. The spokesman said this was the first success of the dog unit without the benefit of a tip-off. He said the car, with a Penang registration plate, was stopped for a surprise check as it came in from Thailand. The dog went inside the car and gave out an excited cry before it began to tear the back rest of the back seat and sniffed out 25 slabs of raw opium. He said the car was heavily perfumed but this did not prevent the dog sniffing out the drugs. NAB/AFP [Text] [Rangoon THE WORKING PEOPLE'S DAILY in English 1 Aug 81 p 7]

[Text] Eleven people including one Japanese have been arrested on suspicion of trafficking in hiroppon worth more than 10,000 million won since late last year by producing it at secret workshops they built in their houses or on uninhabited islets, the Seoul District Prosecution reported yesterday.

Those arrested are among 24 people who were checked by a special investigation team from the district prosecution. They are charged with violation of the Psychotropic Drug Control Law.

Mrs. Kang Chong-suk, 31, having no fixed residence, and another were criminally booked in connection with the case.

Oh Kuk-hwan, 35, an official of Health-Social Affairs Ministry, is alleged to have accepted eight million won from the hiroppon ring in return for not reporting the crimes, and Hirogatsu Nakasima, 40, of Okinawa, Japan, is accused of attempting to smuggle the drug to Japan.

The prosecution seized 2.4 kg of hiroppon valued at about 240 million won, syringes and distilled water in raids on the workshops.

Pyeong Hi-jin, 50, living in Yoksam-dong, southern Seoul, has three criminal convictions and is alleged to have produced 3 kg hiroppon at his house since October, 1979.

Choe Wan-su, 50, of Kwang-an-dong, southern Pusan, is accused of supplying the workshops with raw materials such as chloride ephedrine in exchange for processed hiroppon, according to the prosecution authorities.

The authorities said Nakasima tried to smuggle 360 g of hiroppon to Japan after buying it for 900,000 yen from Choe Tae-san, 50, now under arrest, at his Lex Hotel room in central Seoul on July 17.

FOUR SENTENCED FOR POSSESSING HEROIN--Bangkok, 23 July--Three Australians and a Thai today were sentenced to a total of 121 years imprisonment after being found guilty of possessing 8.5 kilogrammes (18 pounds) of heroin for sale. The court jailed Sydney hairdresser Warren Fellows, 27, William Sinclair, 67-year-old Bangkok bar owner, and Thai Kitti Imsap to 33 years and eight months each. Sydney football player Paul Hayward, 27, was sentenced to 20 years. The three Australians, arrested in October 1978 and held in custody since then, pleaded not guilty to attempted trafficking. But Hayward and Fellows pleaded guilty to illegal possession of the heroin which the prosecution said was found in their hotel room. The Thai, who was accused of supplying the drug, also pleaded not guilty. Defence lawyers said the Australians would appeal against the judgment. In a lengthy judgment, the court said it could have imposed life imprisonment but had passed lighter sentences because the defendants had been cooperative during the trial. It said the prosecution had established clear evidence that Fellows and Sinclair were involved in drug trafficking for seven or eight years. Hayward was given a lighter term because there was no evidence that he was involved in drug trafficking prior to 1978, the court said. It said the sentences took into consideration the large amount of heroin involved. Dealing in such quantities of drugs was a threat to the world community, it added. The court also noted prosecution evidence that about 30 kilogrammes (50 pounds) of drugs were being smuggled into Australia every month. HAU GIANG CRACKS DOWN ON REACTIONARY CULTURE, NARCOTIC USE

Ho Chi Minh City SAIGON GIAI PHONG in Vietnamese 24 Jun 81 p 4

[Article: Hau Giang "Severely Punishes Those Who Store, Disseminate Decadent, Reactionary Culture"]

[Text] VNA--The people's court of Can Tho City (Hau Giang Province) just held a session to try Nguyen Phu Huu and Nguyen Van Giau for the crime of storing and disseminating decadent and reactionary culture, and of buying, selling, smoking and injecting narcotics.

Since January 1980, with a stealthily purchased portable movie projector Nguyen Phu Huu has made a good deal of money by luring many youths into his home to view decadent films left behind by American imperialists. As for Nguyen Van Giau, despite having been educated several times, he continued to stealthily organize the purchase, sale, smoking and injection of heroin and narcotics, poisoning the existence of unprogressive youths.

Huu's and Giau's activities were exposed by the people, who helped responsible organs to arrest and detain them with complete incriminating evidence. Before the court, both Huu and Giau admitted their guilt.

The people's court of Can Tho City sentenced Nguyen Phu Huu and Nguyen Van Giau to 24 months in prison each, with confiscation of all incriminating evidence and means.

MARIHUANA WORTH $6 MILLION, 8 BOATS SEIZED; 19 ARRESTED

Nassau THE TRIBUNE in English 20 Jul 81 p 1

[Article by Athena Damianos]

[Text]

MARIJUANA, VALUED at over $6 million, eight boats and about 20 pounds of scalefish and crawfish were seized by the Bahamas Defence Force off West Andros Saturday.

The incident, which took place near the "drug hideaway" William's Island, ended up in the arrest of 19 foreigners.

The 19 suspects were arrested at about 10 am Saturday by officers of the 60-foot patrol craft "Exuma," captained by Lieutenant Commander Bachelette LaFleur. Exuma, which was on "routine patrol," was later assisted by "Inagua," under the command of Lieutenant Jackson Ritchie.

Of the eight boats arrested at sea was "Capricorn," a 50-foot vessel carrying 286, 50-pound bales of what is believed to be marijuana. Six Cuban-Americans and one Brazilian-American were arrested.

The other boats were the Florida-registered "The Playboy," with five pounds of crawfish tails; "Elnino", Florida, 10 pounds of scalefish, and; Marie Del Carmen, Florida, five pounds of scalefish. The crawfish season is presently closed.

No drugs were found on any of these boats.

Nothing was found aboard either "Juventud" or "Talisman," both of which are Florida registered.

However, the Defence spokesman said crawfish traps were found in the area where the two boats were picked up. The officers also reported that some of the men were seen "throwing something overboard."

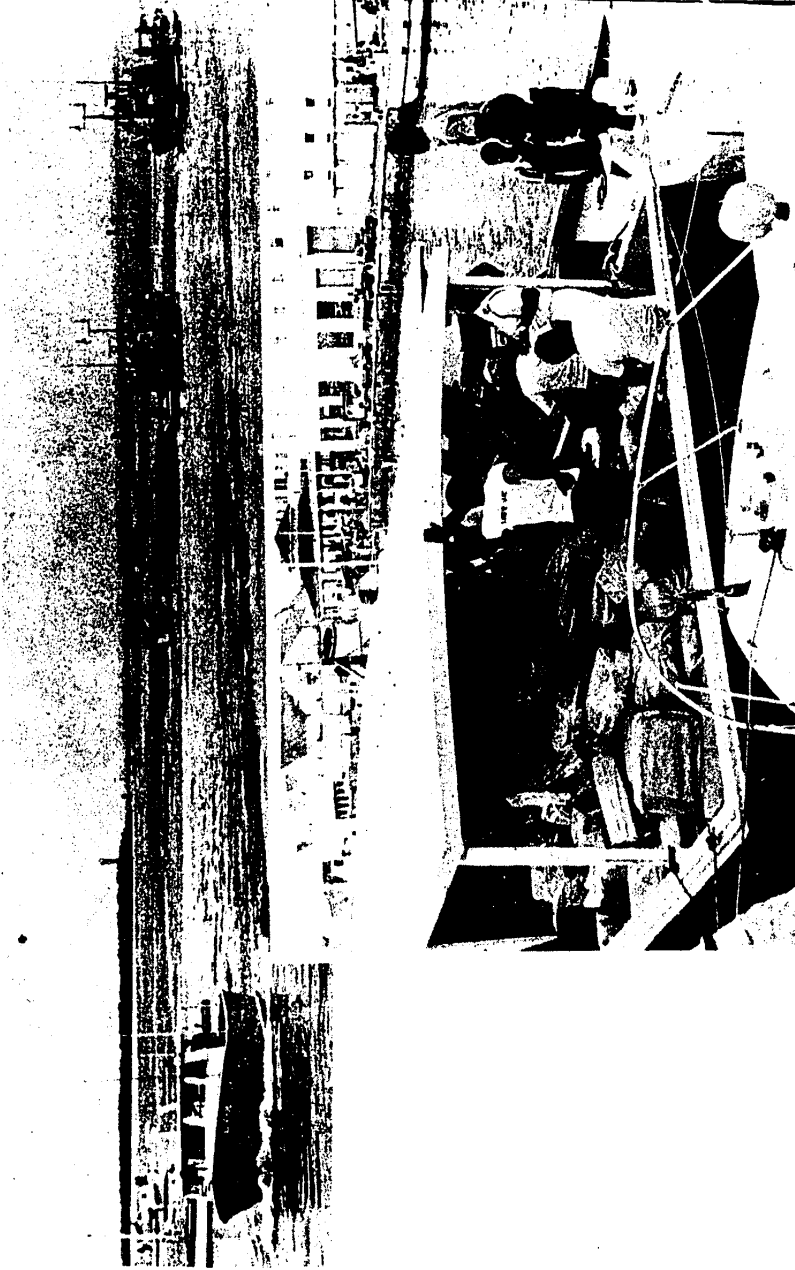

Another boat was seized but later released.

The boat had another vessel, "Wild 'n Wet," in tow when the Defence Force appeared.

"Wild 'n Wet," which crewmen reported was found drifting, was cut loose as the boat tried to leave the area. The boat was, however, stopped and then freed.

A senior police officer told The Tribune that a pound of marijuana could be broken into smaller quantities and sold for a street value of $500. The substance seized from Capricorn was believed to be marijuana. It was packaged in 286 50-pound bales, which would bring in a street value of more than $6 million.

The 19 persons arrested are expected to be charged in the Magistrate's Court tomorrow.

Drug Ship Seized--Capricorn is brought into Nassau Harbour by Defence Force marines Sunday. She was followed by seven other boats seized on illegal fishing charges. At right, the Capricorn, shown loaded to the gills with 286 bales of marijuana valued at some $6 million.

Two of the organizations were operating in Tingo Maria and the other in Piura. This report was made at a press conference by the head of the drug investigation unit of PIP, Gen Berly Baca Valdivia, who noted that recently the drug rings have "recruited" naive women for their operations. This is shown in the presence of women among two of the three groups of traffickers arrested recently. The GC operation, in Pucallpa, was named "Pincer" and was under the command of Capt Carlos Zamora Viacava, of the Intelligence Directorate, working with staff of the 39th Command. A unit patrolling the Aguaytia River at 1400 hours apprehended two motor boats with four trafficker crew members. Shots were exchanged but no one was seriously injured on either side. After arresting the traffickers, the police searched the boats and found 1,000 kg of base paste, two containers of chemicals used in processing cocaine, a power saw, and an assortment of firearms, including machine guns, shotguns, pistols, revolvers and a great quantity of ammunition. The Civil Guard arraigned the arrested persons before the penal judge in office in Pucallpa. Already the persons arrested can be sure of at least 20 years behind bars, according to the new laws passed recently by the legislature. CLANDESTINE AIRSTRIP--The Civil Guard discovered a clandestine airstrip in Carabayllo being used by international drug traffickers and seized 64 kg of cocaine base paste and the equipment for its manufacture. This discovery and drug seizure were made at 2336 hours yesterday by personnel of the Carabayllo Civil Guard Post, in collaboration with the 72d Commissariat of Puente Piedra. A half hour earlier, several individuals were seen in the vicinity carrying bundles among the underbrush. This fact was reported to the police who combed the area in search of the suspects. After an intensive search, the Civil Guard found three bags containing a total of 64 kilos of base paste, which were hidden in a drainage ditch located in a brush-covered, unpopulated area. In the vicinity, the Civil Guard also found two large empty cylinders, a medium-size cylinder containing sulfuric acid, a large plastic sheet for the maceration of cocaine base paste and other equipment for the manufacture of the drug. Both the drug and the equipment used for its manufacture were found a short distance from a large field which was being used as an airstrip for small airplanes. A police spokesman said that intervention by the authorities had prevented the shipment abroad of 65 kg of cocaine base paste, which, according to investigators was to have been sent out of the country in the early morning hours. INTERNATIONAL COCAINE TRAFFICKING--During operations carried out in the capital and the interior of the country, the Peruvian Investigative Police [PIP] made the largest confiscation of cocaine hydrochloride ever. The drug is valued at over 2 billion soles on the international black market. The police seized 30 kilos of cocaine hydrochloride from a powerful organization of drug traffickers made up of foreigners and Peruvians. This is the largest confiscation of such material recorded up to now in police annals. According to the official report, a former world class [soccer] player is a member of this "white gold mafia." The PIP also discovered modern clandestine laboratories where the cocaine hydrochloride was processed. One of the labs was functioning in Salamanca, where the mafia had its center of operations. The identity of the individuals involved in the mafia will be revealed next Thursday during a press conference, it was learned. Elsewhere, in another operation, the Carabayllo Civil Guard found cocaine base paste in a drainage ditch. The paste is valued at over 150 million soles. In that same area, the police also discovered a small landing field for light planes. Neighbors of the Pueblo Viejo country estate in Carabayllo had reported the presence of airplanes at night and in the early morning hours, thus alerting the police. In another development, two drug traffickers (one Brazilian and one Peruvian) were captured in a police net yesterday in the vicinity of Pucallpa. They were transporting 20 kg of cocaine base paste valued at 20 million soles. The prisoners are Francisco Fracio Correia, a Brazilian, 31, and Italo Mexa Frais, a Peruvian, 39. Both men were arrested near the village of Leoncio Prado, of Lago Yarinacocha, while agents specializing in the antidrug campaign were "combing" the area during operation "White Gold," which is designed to eradicate illicit trafficking in the regions of Pucallpa and Tingo Maria. In Tingo Maria, the Civil Guard destroyed maceration pits for coca leaves and arrested their owner, Teser Paredes Pezo, and his brother, Pedro Paredes Pezo. The men had 250,000 soles cash in their possession. [Text] [Lima EL COMERCIO in Spanish 23 Jun 81 p 12] 8143

INTERNATIONAL DRUG OPERATION--Members of the Tacna PIP [Peruvian Investigative Police] seized 10 kg of cocaine base paste from a ring of international drug traffickers made up of Peruvians and Chileans who were transporting the drug to the neighboring country. Detectives of the Tacna Departmental Headquarters, under the command of Col Alfredo Vergara Cordova, during a quick-strike operation, indentified and arrested the ringleader and some of the criminals. The antidrug agents obtained the clue leading to the arrests from Juana Rivera Caceres de Ramos, who had traveled regularly to Arica on the pretext of purchasing merchandise. Her conduct aroused the suspicion of the police who, after several days of surveillance, determined the real activities of the woman. Later, the detectives arrested Miguel Llanque Turpo, Valentin Aguilar Nieto and Luciano Ramos Cana, the husband of the female prisoner. In turn, these prisoners named Baudilla Teofila Caipa Valverde de Velasco as the leader of the organization. When she was arrested at her home at 698 Augusto Leguia Ave, the police found 10 kg of the drug hidden in a refrigerator. In a related development, the PIP said that it was coordinating with INTERPOL to locate the other members of the band who are of Chilean nationality. The police operation was planned by Maj Taul Bringos Villacorta, of the Jesus Maria PIP Station, who gave Detective Fania Vargas Olarie the dangerous mission of representing herself to the drug traffickers as a drug buyer. This detective reached an agreement with the "pushers" to deliver the PBC [cocaine base paste] at kilometer marker 6 on the North Panamerican Highway. At this location the police arrested Efrain Miranda Salicio, 35, and Humberto Isla Amasifueen, 39, and confiscated 2 kg of the drug. Spiritualist Luz Blanca Polo Loayza, 48, known to her clientele as "Madame Carmeli," was the connection between buyers and producers of cocaine hydrochloride. Her "consulting room" was located at 1428 Raymondi Ave, La Victoria. According to the sources, the acting attorney general took part in the police operation and stayed up until dawn in order to file all the necessary charges. Investigation by our reporters revealed that this drug trafficking ring had a modern laboratory capable of making large quantities of drugs. This type of laboratory, according to one detective, is the most modern and sophisticated yet to be uncovered. [Text] [Lima EXPRESO in Spanish 19 Jun 81 p 9] 11989

LARGEST DRUG HAUL MADE OFF BRITTANY COAST

NC232201 Paris AFP in English 1838 GMT 23 Aug 81

[Excerpt] Brest, West France, 23 Aug (AFP)--French customs made their biggest narcotics haul ever when they netted six million dollars' worth of cannabis resin aboard a 55-ton British-registered yacht near here Friday, it was revealed today.

Two West Germans were arrested after customs made a chance-boarding of the Conquest III laden with 1.75 tons of cannabis which police said came from Morocco and was intended for a "north European country."

The 60-foot (18-meter) wooden yacht, registered in Falmouth, Cornwall, and bristling with radio equipment, had reportedly lost its bearings off Brittany's western coast. It had sailed from Lisbon, Portugal, to the Mediterranean where it rendezvoused with another ship to take on the drugs, police said.

Customs said the yacht's skipper was to be paid 135,000 marks (about 50,000 dollars) for the trip. According to police, he had previously been sentenced to 4 years' imprisonment for cigarette smuggling.

One of the two Germans, both said to be in their 50's, was sea-sick when customs boarded the yacht off the north-western French island of Ouessant (Ushant).

POLL SHOWS HALF OF POPULATION FOR DRUG-CASE PHONE TAPS

Stockholm DAGENS NYHETER in Swedish 26 Jul 81 p 1.

[Text] Every other Swedish voter is prepared to approve concealed microphones and telephone tapping without authorization in order to cut down on drug abuse and to uncover tax violations. This was shown by an opinion poll taken by the Institute for Opinion Analysis during the spring of 1981.

The institute has conducted opinion polls based on checking off a form containing around 500 questions in 1979, 1980 and 1981.

This is the first year narcotics appeared in the questionnaire. Nine out of ten Swedes favor strong steps against narcotics and eight out of ten voters favored measures to combat tax violations and foreign debts.

Asked if hidden microphones should be placed in residences to uncover drug dealings and tax cheating, 30 percent answered, "Yes, definitely" and 23 percent said, "Yes," for a total of 53 percent. Unauthorized telephone tapping was approved by 29 percent in the top category and 31 percent in the next for a total of 60 percent. TV surveillance without special authorization was accepted by a total of 53 percent.

Pessimism is widespread when it comes to getting at narcotics, with 36 percent thinking the situation will get "much worse" in a few years and another 27 percent feeling it will get "somewhat worse."

At the same time as demands for taking action against tax cheating are rising, tolerance for tax cheating is increasing.

BRIEFS

HEROIN SMUGGLER SEIZED--Helsingborg (TT)--A routine check paid off. The two small packages customs officials were interested in turned out to contain heroin, 216 grams in all. Customs people in Helsingborg found the heroin packages a short time ago in the trunk of a car. The driver, a 35-year-old man, was on his way to Stockholm where he was going to sell the heroin. In an interrogation the man said he estimated he would get 140,000 kroner for the heroin. This quantity is worth considerably more on the street. The man had obtained the heroin in Beirut from where he had flown to Kastrup Airport. He is now jailed in Helsingborg. [Text] [Stockholm SVENSKA DAGBLADET in Swedish 25 Jul 81 p 6] 6578

JOINT NORDIC NARCOTICS EFFORT--Ostersund (TT)--"We will all safeguard free mobility in the Nordic region. But we must all regard the alcohol and narcotics problem as a mutual one and try to cooperate in reducing the harmful effects of these drugs." So said Social Minister Karin Soder (Center) on Sunday to the Nordic abstinence congress being opened in Ostersund. The congress will last until Thursday. Karin Soder said that both the delegates to the Nordic Council and the governments through the Nordic Council of Ministers will intensify cooperation on these weighty social issues. The problems of alcohol and narcotics are shared ones and to some extent the same in all the Nordic countries. Therefore we have stepped up cooperation in recent years. By exchanging knowledge and experiences we can work together to combat the forces spreading drugs throughout the Nordic region, Karin Soder said. Some ten Nordic organs are involved in research in this area. The Nordic Agency for Alcohol and Drug Research, set up in 1980 in Helsinki, and the Nordic Health Care School are two examples. The police and prosecutor do not know how much of the substance the man produced but remains of amphetamines have been found in his residence. The 35-year-old said that during an earlier stay in prison he had been so badly affected by all the drugs in the institution that he decided to find an antidote to narcotics. LSD SMUGGLER SEIZED--Goteborg (TT)--A 30-year-old man from Dalarna has been smuggling in LSD from the United States for 2 years. He sent the substance on blotting paper in letters to Sweden and also brought in LSD tablets taped into the folds of a shirt. The man is now charged in Goteborg District Court with serious narcotics violations but denies that he sold narcotics and maintains that he used them himself or gave them away to friends. But a 25-year-old friend of his says he bought LSD from the 30-year-old. The 25-year-old, who is from Varm-land, is also charged with possession of LSD. He has confessed. Compared with the situation in the early 1970's LSD is quite uncommon. The Goteborg police said they occasionally confiscate some. The last time was more than a year ago.
