

OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20503

Executive Registry

73-2604

ADVANCE FOR RELEASE
Friday AM's
March 9, 1973

OMB-54
Information Office

Roy L. Ash, Director of the Office of Management and Budget, today named B. A. (Dolph) Bridgewater, Jr., of Chicago as an Associate Director of OMB for National Security and International Affairs. He will assume his new duties March 20.

Mr. Bridgewater ^{was} ~~is presently~~ a senior partner of McKinsey and Company, Inc., a management consulting firm, where he ~~has been a specialist~~ ^{32d} in strategic planning and management of international operations. He will be one of four Associate Directors in a restructured OMB presently undergoing a reorganization scheduled to be completed next month.

Mr. Bridgewater, a native of Tulsa, Oklahoma, is 38 years old. He received an A.B. degree from Westminster College in 1955, and an L.L.B. degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1958. For the following three years, Mr. Bridgewater served in the U.S. Navy, first overseas, later in the Office of the Judge Advocate General in Washington, D.C. In 1962, he became Assistant County Attorney in Tulsa and later that year enrolled at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, where in 1964, he was awarded an M.B.A. degree with distinction.

He is married to the former Barbara Paton of Kansas City, Missouri. They will live with their three daughters in the District of Columbia.