FBID Progress Report for February 1964

GENERAL

1. The evacuation of FBIS American and third national dependents from Cyprus, which began on 5 February, progressed smoothly. By month's end virtually all dependents were in safe havens. Many of the original evacuees to Beirut either returned to the United States or moved on to join their husbands at Caversham and Vienna, and only seven American families and eleven third national families remained in Beirut. Three of the foreign national families were scheduled to travel to Vienna as soon as their sponsors' entry into Austria was authorized.

With remaining evacuees settled in Beirut and all FBIS American school age children in school, [redacted] the FBIS representative on the Agency's four-man evacuation team, returned to Washington. Reports on the status and location of evacuees continued to be made daily by the Administrative Staff to the Headquarters evacuation committee.

In compliance with Ambassador Wilkins directive that Cyprus operations be cut to a minimum, there was a wholesale transfer of Mediterranean Bureau monitors and coverage to London and Vienna. During February, eighteen monitors were sent on temporary duty to Caversham and six to Vienna. Six more monitors were transferred permanently to Vienna, and three others were awaiting Austrian visas which would allow them to travel to Vienna, one on permanent transfer and two on temporary duty. One additional monitor was transferred to the Okinawa Bureau, two editors were transferred to the Austrian Bureau, and one electronic specialist returned to the United States. Thus at the end of the month only 15 Americans and 16 monitors remained on duty at the Mediterranean Bureau.

The coordination and cooperation between the London, Austrian and Mediterranean Bureaus and the BBC involved in this massive transfer of coverage were exceptional, and it is apparent that as long as the Mediterranean Bureau is able to operate close to its present level, overall FBIS/BBC coverage and collection losses will be minimal. Mr. [redacted] Deputy Chief, FOS, is now visiting the Austrian, German, and London Bureaus to assist bureaus in their new coverage situations and help develop future plans. Exploratory steps are also being taken to determine appropriate sites if it becomes necessary to relocate the Mediterranean Bureau.

2. Meanwhile, with the Mediterranean Bureau hardcore complement settling down to routine operations, the deterioration of the Vietnamese situation, and especially indications that the Viet Cong was beginning terrorist activities against American personnel in Saigon, prompted the Agency and FBIS to begin contingency planning for possible evacuation of dependents from there also. By the beginning of March only 3 of the 111 Agency families in Vietnam had chosen to evacuate on a voluntary basis, none of them FBIS families, but compulsory evacuation remained a definite possibility depending on the decision of responsible U.S. officials. At month's end relocation plans for the Saigon Bureau were being brought up to date and FBIS Deputy Chief [redacted] was scheduled to discuss with FBIS bureau chiefs the possible transfer of Saigon monitors during his current visit to Far East bureaus. Implementation of these plans is not contemplated at this stage, however.

3. The Panama Bureau has resolved the operational difficulties arising from the Panama crisis, but housing for staff employees continues to be a problem. The bureau has instituted a seven-day work week for the duration of the crisis, a direct phone line to the Republic has been installed to insure contact with local employees, and emergency billets for Panamanian employees have been arranged to cope with a possible border closure. FBIS families continue to live in subpar quarters, however, either the Tivoli Guest House or one-bedroom apartments. One editor with a large family was moved out on direct transfer to the London Bureau.

4. East Coast, West Coast, Key West, and Panama Bureaus contributed to daily wirefiled ~~reaction~~ reports for the Director 9 through 27 February concerning Cuban and Latin American reaction to the U.S. seizure of Cuban fishing boats, the subsequent shutoff of the Guantanamo water supply, and related events. The roundups were filed exclusively to the OCI Watch Office for transmittal to the Director each morning. Advance copies of RPB's Survey articles on the fishing boat incident and on past and present Cuban treatment of the Guantanamo base issue were provided to the DD/I's office by special courier within hours of the water cutoff and were used by an Agency officer in a White House briefing the same day. In a 7 February press conference on the dispute, Secretary of State Rusk said "...we have noticed Cuban broadcasts which suggest a concerted campaign against our presence in Guantanamo."

5. Three propaganda-analysis items on the FBIS Wire Service responded to priority concern in the Agency and the State Department with Hanoi, Peking and Moscow reaction to the public speculation in the United States about alternative courses of action in South Vietnam, including extension of the war to the North.

SUBJECT: FBID Progress Report for February 1964

6. A Radio Propaganda Report in the Cuba series traced the development of Castro's line on the status and prospects of U.S.-Cuban relations since the Caribbean crisis; a statistical report was prepared for USIA on Soviet propaganda exploitation of U.S. racial difficulties during the last three quarters of 1963; and texts of Soviet comment relating to Governor Rockefeller since 1960 were assembled for the Director at the request of his office.

7. In response to a special request from the Department of State, the London Bureau wirefiled for a week items containing Somali propaganda attacks on Ethiopia directly to American Embassies in Addis Ababa, Mogadiscio, and Khartoum. The Bureau also prepared a comparative survey of Voice of the Arabs broadcasts at the request of the Department of State, which in turn had been asked by UAR authorities to have these broadcasts checked to make sure they had toned down their attacks on other Arab countries as Cairo had ordered. At the urgent request of the First Secretary of the American Consulate in Panama, a Panama City Circuito RPC broadcast of an OAS investigation committee press conference was forwarded by the Wire to Secretary of State Rusk and USIA Director Rowan.

8. Interest in broadcast material on Lee Harvey Oswald continued. Congressman Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, a member of the Warren Commission, requested back issues of all Daily Reports for several days following 22 November. The CI Staff of the DD/P urgently requested that a check be made for broadcast references to Oswald during his stay in the Soviet Union.

9. In response to a request from the White House Situation Room, FBIS provided a quotation from Mexican President Lopez Mateos' September 1963 State of the Union address which President Johnson subsequently used in a speech in the presence of President Lopez at UCLA.

10. Voice recordings of statements by two American pilots held in North Korea since last May were promptly requested by the Department of Defense. Okinawa Bureau, which had monitored the statements from Pyongyang radio, airmailed tape recordings to Headquarters.

11. Congressman Ogden Reid of New York, who has previously shown interest in radio monitored information on the Middle East, requested a subscription to the Middle East, Africa, and West Europe Daily Report. Congressman Reid is currently the only member of Congress receiving an Official Use Only Daily Report. The White Book is sent to 39 Congressmen.

12. The Agency's Foreign Missile and Space Analysis Center in the Headquarters building, and Strike Command at MacDill Air Force Base, Florida, became recipients of the FBIS Wire Service at the end of the month.

The latter is receiving service through the Joint Communications Activity at Fort Ritchie, Maryland.

13. With the addition of one Department of Defense and three Department of Health, Education, and Welfare addressees, the World Health Organization epidemiological bulletin monitored at the East Coast Bureau is now wirefiled to 28 consumers. Four additional local consumers receive copies by mail.

14. A Daily Report supplement published 4 February contained the Seventh People's Daily-Red Flag article attacking the CPSU leadership, and one published 17 February contained Soviet Premier Khrushchev's 14 February speech to a CPSU Central Committee plenum on agriculture.

15. Publication of the Significant Radio Reportage summary, or "Pink Sheet," as a single page and part of all area Daily Reports was terminated with the 14 February issue as a part of the page-reduction program undertaken to enable FBIS to operate within Printing Services Division reduced capabilities. No adverse consumer reaction has been noted. This service is being continued, however, to FBIS Wire Service consumers and to worldwide lateral consumers, and by limited distribution within FBIS Headquarters with copies from the FBIS Wire Service teletype run.

16. Changes were made in Daily Report publication style and procedures during February to reduce the number of Daily Report pages. On 18 February the Latin American Daily Report was converted to all offset printing from multilith mats prepared on typewriters with small typefaces. Restyling of page headings and an increase in the number of lines per page, first tested in the Latin American book, was extended to all Daily Reports on 24 February. Wordage per page has been increased more than 10 percent. Production figures for the first partial month show more material was published in Daily Reports averaging 300 pages daily than had been published previously in books averaging 320 pages. X

17. In a further effort to hold down FBIS requirements on Printing Services Division, a freeze has been placed on subscriptions to the Daily Report White Book by nongovernment recipients. X

18. During February 24 percent of the items appearing in the OCI Digest were based wholly or in part on material supplied by FBIS.

19. Eleven percent of the Daily Report was devoted to press scrutiny and eighty-nine percent to broadcast materials.

20. February was marked by a heavy increase of interest in the broadcasting and programing facilities of North Vietnam, including questions on the operations of clandestine broadcast operations in that immediate area of the world. Requests for information were received from DDP, OCI, State, DOD, and USIA.

21. At the request of [redacted], FBIS provided the Collection Guidance Staff with reports on Iraqi and Syrian broadcasting and FBIS coverage levels. These two reports, plus an earlier one on Yemeni broadcasting, will be incorporated into Collection Guidance Staff contributions to National Intelligence Programs Evaluation studies of total intelligence collection capability by country and the purpose and effectiveness of such collection.

22. Information concerning the location of Greek- and Turkish-language clandestine broadcasters in East Europe was given to USIA for background use by the American delegation to the United Nations during the debate on Cyprus.

23. A National Aeronautics and Space Administration report produced with considerable FBIS assistance was published and distributed in late February. FBIS was sent the only copy that CIA will receive. It will be forwarded to the CIA Library.

24. Throughout the month, FBIS continued to supply technical and program information to: 1) various agencies of the Government compiling data for NIS sections; 2) DDP, requesting information on all Cuban International broadcasts; 3) OCI for the Panama, Cuba, and Spain Desks, and for the Indications Section which was interested in any signs of a lessening of Soviet broadcast interest in Cuba; 4) the State Department Ethiopia Desk on broadcasting in eastern Africa; and 5) USIA which, in addition to its normal requirements, sent a representative to get the latest data on broadcast language totals of all the Free World as of the end of the past year.

25. Authorization was obtained from the Cable Secretariat for FBIS field bureaus to use a RYBAT indicator on its sensitive classified traffic. Distribution of such messages will normally be restricted to OO and FBIS. Field Bureaus were advised of this procedure.

26. Coordination of a black broadcast against Peking programs to Burma was successfully achieved during February. This was the first such effort on this beam and considerable briefing was necessary for Agency units found to be unfamiliar with the complexities of such operations.

FACILITIES

27. Installation of VHF radio transmitting and receiving equipment gave the Mediterranean Bureau a direct high-quality radioteletype link with the Department of State Radio Station at Yerolakkos and from Yerolakkos to CYTA in Nicosia by landline. These communications, set up because the landline from Kyrenia to CYTA has been cut ever since Christmas, have actually proved to be superior to those via the landline even under the normal operating conditions prior to the emergency.

28. In connection with the transfer of Mediterranean Bureau coverage, the Mediterranean Bureau shipped to the Austrian Bureau extensive quantities of electronic equipment to enable the latter bureau to set up facilities for the 15 additional monitors working there. East Coast Bureau Electronic Engineer [redacted] is now at the Austrian Bureau on temporary duty supervising installation of the equipment. The Mediterranean Bureau also shipped two Arabic teleprinters to the London Bureau to permit fuller coverage of Arabic press transmissions at Caversham.

29. The installation at the African Bureau of a sloping "V" antenna oriented toward Accra was completed, and reception of Accra, Lome, and Abidjan was significantly improved.

30. The poor Pacific communications situation was unchanged during February despite efforts to solve the problem. A high volume of traffic is received via common user facilities, but in general traffic is still moving satisfactorily.

ADMINISTRATION

31. During the month of February four employees entered on duty, none transferred, and two were separated from FBIS. The on duty strength as of 29 February was [redacted]. There were six professionals and five clericals in process during the month.

50X1

32. A seven-percent increase in the Mediterranean Bureau's Foreign/Professional Wage Scale was approved effective 2 February 1964.

33. A "Management Review for Economy," prepared for the Assistant Director for Operations in response to a DDCI requirement, noted the areas where FBID had effected savings in its operations and outlined programs being undertaken to continue economy.

34. A study was prepared for the Executive Director requesting relief from the current ceiling restrictions imposed upon FBIS in connection with monitoring and analysis of Cuban propaganda.

35. A report was submitted to the Chief, Procurement Division/OL, outlining procurement requirements for FBIS during the last quarter of FY-64.

Remarks:

1. This report, because of early-month sampling technique, does not fully reflect coverage and/or production changes effected after mid-February by Austrian, London, and Mediterranean Bureaus. FOS has not considered that Bureaus involved in these changes should be held too tightly to reporting requirements. 50X1 however, is ensuring accuracy for future reports.

2. FBIS London coverage included under BBC since its production could not be separated from the BBC file.
