Office of the Director
Director of Central Intelligence

Subject to existing law and the President's directive of 22 January 1946, and to the direction and control of the National Intelligence Authority, the Director of Central Intelligence:

1. Sits as a non-voting member of the National Intelligence Authority.
2. Directs all activities of the Central Intelligence Group.
3. Is advised by an Intelligence Advisory Board consisting of the heads (or their representatives) of the principal military and civilian intelligence agencies of the government having functions related to the national security, as determined by the National Intelligence Authority.
4. Accomplishes the correlation and evaluation of intelligence relating to the national security, and the appropriate dissemination within the Government of the resulting strategic and national policy intelligence. In so doing he makes full use of the staff and facilities of the intelligence agencies of the State, War, and Navy Departments.
5. In performing 4 above, undertakes such research and analysis as may be necessary to determine what functions in the fields of national security intelligence are not being presently performed or are not being adequately performed. Based upon these determinations he may centralize such research and analysis activities as may, in his opinion and that of the appropriate member or members of the Intelligence Advisory Board, be more efficiently or effectively accomplished centrally.
6. Plans for the coordination of such of the activities of the intelligence agencies of the State, War and Navy Departments as relate to the national security, and recommends to the National Intelligence Authority the establishment of such overall policies and objectives as will assure the most effective accomplishment of the national intelligence mission.
7. Acts for the National Intelligence Authority in coordinating all federal foreign intelligence activities related to the national security to ensure that the overall policies and objectives established by that Authority are properly implemented and executed.
8. Performs, for the benefit of the intelligence agencies of the State, War, and Navy Departments, such services of common concern as the National Intelligence Authority determines can be more efficiently accomplished centrally.
9. Performs such other functions and duties related to intelligence affecting the national security as the President and the National Intelligence Authority may from time to time direct.
