Dear Bill:

I have been informed by Gary Russell of Senator Boschwitz' office that President Reagan will be visiting Minnesota on June 9, 1983.

Apparently the White House has not yet decided whether the President should accept my invitation to speak at Hamline and so recognize the special achievements of this school over the past ten years. It would be an important occasion for the President to dramatize in public an example of initiative, hard work and vision resulting in success. Second, at a law school it would be appropriate for the President to discuss in public his sense of responsibility that all citizens need shoulder if our republic is to maintain its pride and self-confidence.

I am grateful for your assistance in the past in communicating to the White House your support of my invitation to the President. I would ask that you again communicate to the President's planning staff the opportunities you feel he would have by making a short public appearance at the Hamline University School of Law.

Sincerely yours,
