j. A draft agreement has been received from the Virginia Department of Highways and Transportation (VDH&T) that covers proposed improvements to Route 123. While there are several troublesome features, VDH&T representatives appear willing to accept proposed changes. Also, citizen anxieties have been stimulated by a National Capital Planning Commission (NCPC) regional planning paper recently circulated to local citizen groups for comment. This has resulted in a number of telephone calls to the Agency, NCPC, VDH&T, and Congressman Wolf--the sole issue of concern is the nature and scope of proposed improvements to Route 123.

3. Significant activities anticipated during the coming week:

a. The Deputy Director for Administration (DDA) will present the Agency Seal Medallion to Mr. Henry H. Eades, U.S. Treasury Department, who has been responsible for handling sensitive financial and payroll arrangements for the Agency, 25 May.
