Dear Mr. Mulholland:

On behalf of the participants and course director, I want to thank you for authorizing Mr. Arthur Long's participation in the Seminar on the Producer-Consumer Relationship on 9 January. At the same time, we want to thank Mr. Long for giving continued and invaluable support to our New Analyst Course. The Seminar, attended by CIA senior analysts and branch chiefs from the Directorate of Intelligence, examines the relationship between producers and consumers of intelligence and explores problem areas of mutual concern. The New Analyst Course is given to analysts with less than three months of Agency experience.

Mr. Long's presentations are always well received. He has a special knack for combining humor, substance, and specific examples. He also does a good job in tailoring his presentation to a specific audience. We are always gratified to have such a dynamic and effective speaker address one of our classes. Once again, thank you.

Sincerely,

STAT
