CIA Conducted Experiments at GWU

Two projects in the CIA's now-defunct MK-ULTRA behavioral research were conducted at George Washington University, apparently without the university administration's knowledge that CIA funds and purposes were involved, according to GWU President Lloyd H. Elliott.

He told the faculty yesterday that CIA documents show a grant of $32,858 to GWU in 1956-57 for research into sleep and insomnia, and one of $20,000 in 1960-61 involving bioelectrical response patterns. None of the researchers is still at the university, he said.
