TV Scout

Second half of 'Vanished'
offers suspenseful viewing

"Vanished" concludes in fine fashion on Tuesday Night at the Movie. (9-11, Channel 4).

Chet Huntley and Betty White appear as TV news personalities offering a recap of what happened in last night's episode, just in case you missed the suspenseful buildup. Somewhere in this episode, you may get a clue as to what really happened to Arthur Hill, playing the vanished friend and advisor of President Richard Widmark. But there's plenty of suspense as Robert Hooks follows a trail to a South American island and James Farentino, in Washington, follows ships from several nations, all converging on the same spot.
