14. A representative from the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) informed the Office of Information Services (OIS) that NARA would like to put on film the declassified files of the Office of Strategic Services' Research and Analysis Branch, the predecessor of the Directorate of Intelligence (DI). The film would be used by researchers instead of the original paper records. (These records were reviewed by a special group of OSS veterans under contract with the Agency between 1972 and 1975.) Over 90 percent of the records were declassified. NARA feels that many of the remaining classified documents could be declassified and plans to ask OIS to review a sampling.

15. An OIS representative and the Agency Historian attended an interagency meeting convened by the Department of State (DOS) to plan for the timely publication of the Foreign Relations of the United States series. The goal, set by a Presidential memorandum dated 12 November 1985, is to publish by 1990 the record of the Eisenhower administration through 1960. This will require the Department to publish approximately 50 volumes. Approximately 34 volumes probably will contain information involving CIA equities requiring OIS review.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence
FROM: Director, Office of Congressional Affairs
SUBJECT: Weekly Report

There will be a meeting chaired by OMB next week to discuss the proposed FY 1987 Intelligence Authorization Act. Its purpose will be to attempt to reach some agreement among the intelligence agencies as to the items to be finally included in the bill sent to Congress. Comments received from the agencies in the OMB coordination process to date indicate strong objection to inclusion of the following provisions: "leaks" legislation; torts immunity for Intelligence Community personnel; interlocutory appeal; and post-employment restrictions on intelligence personnel. In addition, OMB itself has indicated that it will likely, as it did last year, oppose extending the "unhealthful posts" retirement differential to non-CIARDS Agency employees. We intend to vigorously fight for inclusion of these items despite the objections.
