Dear Mr. deGraffenreid:

STAT This letter confirms the recent telephone conversations you have had with [redacted] regarding lecturing to the students in our Community-wide course on Deception Analysis in intelligence.

I am pleased that you are available to address this class on 15 May 1986, from 1300 to 1400. Your remarks on the consumer's perspective of Soviet deception and its potential impact on finished intelligence are the keynotes which set the tone for the course.

STAT [redacted] will mail you further details shortly. If there is any way he may be of assistance, please call him [redacted].

Cordially yours,

STAT [redacted]
