STAT

Dear

STAT

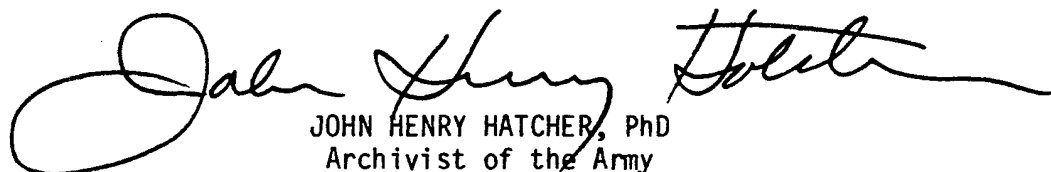

Thank you for your telephone calls concerning the collection of material from General John A. Wickham's Papers that we forwarded to you for declassification review.

We apologize for the unfortunate wordprocessing error in Judge Webster's name and for omission of the enclosure referred to in General Rodgers's letter. A copy of the enclosure is provided herewith. We think that the addressing of our letter indicates some personal acquaintanceship between General Rodgers and Judge Webster as this was the way that your agency head's name was listed when given to me by General Rodgers.

Moreover, we think that copy of JCS Message 212259Z MAY 80 without declassification markings may have been inadvertently included in the collection sent to you. Its original classification was TOP SECRET. The correct current classification of this document is UNCLASSIFIED and a copy so marked is forwarded herewith.

Trusting that you will be able to review these materials for possible Agency assets with favorable declassification determinations at an early date, I am

Most sincerely,

JOHN HENRY HATCHER, PhD

Honorable William Brewster

Washington, DC 20505

Dear Judge Brewster:

General John A. Wickham, United States Army Chief of Staff, has announced his retirement from active military duty to be effective on June 30, 1987. He has already commenced preparation of his memoirs dealing with his stewardship of the Far East interests of the United States.

The specific areas of his immediate concerns are identified in his memorandum to me of June 11, 1987, copy at enclosure one. General Wickham's primary source material comes from his personal involvement at the time of the events that he has preserved in his personal papers for this purpose. Your assets are apparent in the documents found at enclosure two. To preserve integrity, some unclassified items have been included in this collection. General Wickham's recollections elucidating from these documents will provide a unique addition to world political and military history.

I solicit your personal support in expediting a declassification review of the documentation provided herewith. I am simultaneously making the same request of all other involved proponents.

Sincerely,

VR

BULLETIN NO. 87-17

TO THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ESTABLISHMENTS

SUBJECT: Excess Foreign Currencies

1. Purpose. This Bulletin informs the departments and agencies of U.S.-owned foreign currencies that have been determined by the Secretary of the Treasury to be in excess supply.
2. Rescission. This Bulletin supersedes and rescinds OMB Bulletin No. 86-2 of October 25, 1985. The provisions of this Bulletin remain in effect until the Department of the Treasury revises the country determinations.
3. Policy. The Secretary of the Treasury is required annually to determine those foreign currencies held by the U.S. Government in excess of the normal requirements of the U.S. agencies within the countries involved during the two fiscal years that follow the year in which the determination is made. These currencies have been used in the past to fund special foreign currency programs. Over the past several years, the number of currencies and the amounts in excess have declined sharply.

As a result of this diminished supply of excess foreign currencies, and to reduce administrative burdens, special foreign currency appropriations will no longer be requested. In addition, agencies should withdraw unobligated balances of special foreign currency appropriations pursuant to 31 U.S.C. 1555 when the program for which the appropriation was provided has been completed or when the balances relate to a special foreign currency program that cannot be continued because the currency is no longer designated as excess.

Specific guidance on the use of excess foreign currencies is contained in OMB Circular No. A-20.

4. Excess Currencies. Currencies of the following countries are excess to the Government's normal requirements.
