RE: Outreach Program for Alumni of Brookings' Executive Education Programs

Government executives who have attended any of Brookings' one week public policy conferences in the past year will begin to receive:

- ❖ a complimentary one year subscription to The Brookings Review, our quarterly publication on public policy issues.
- ❖ invitations to special briefings at Brookings on current issues of interest to the government executive.

Our objective is to continue the educational process with this outreach program. We want to include government training officers in our briefings as a part of this ongoing relationship with alumni.

An invitation to the first briefing is enclosed, and we would be pleased to have you join us. Please call or send in the coupon. Space is limited, so we urge you to respond quickly.

Thank you.

The Brookings Institution

*invites you to participate in a Government Alumni Briefing
