6. "special program for listeners": A. mikhail sumbatov opens program by referring to soviet union's proposals on specific measures to limit nuclear arms. disarmament, and support these proposals have received. letters from various parts of world, including iran, prove this point. A listener from hashhad writes that sole way to preserve universal peace is to accept soviet government's proposals. my friends and i believe that this is only way to prevent nuclear war. another listener condemns u.s. administration's militaristic policy aimed at achieving military supremacy. In order to veil true objectives of u.s. foreign policy. reagan resorts to calumnies against soviet union. A listener from hamlet near esfahan writes that nature of this policy is to impose hegemony. as an example, he writes, we can refer to situation in iran. united states does its best to stifle revolution and revive iran's past situation (4 min); b. our listeners ask what benefits united states can gain by calumniating soviet union. actually united states is not benefiting a great deal from this. although u.s. mass media publish many fabrication on soviet union. nevertheless nations compare policies of united states and soviet union, and can tell good from bad by their own experience (2 min); c. a listener asks for more information on battle against nazis in summer of 1943. after discussing the battle against nazis in summer of 1943. talk says soviet armed forces shouldered major burden of war and defended their country's freedom and independence, and saved people of near and middle east including iranian people from danger of fascism.
