SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

The target is a series of structures that are both above and under ground (see sketches). There are approximately five floors that I could see and there are perhaps several more but I was not able to focus on them. The structures are constructed of concrete and steel and are heavily wired and are climate controlled.

There are metal pipes and electrical conduits running overhead and along many of the walls. And there are central shafts leading to the surface which serve as accesses for people and equipment and others are for ventilation.

I followed the machine sounds to the source and saw large pumps, spinning turbines in a room that was hot (reminded me of a boiler room in an older building).

There were office areas, desks and chairs. There was an area that seemed to be like a Tactical Operations Center with clocks, electronic gear, people on watch, TV monitors etc.
