

REMOTE VIEWING SESSION DATA

* Remote Viewer : RS

* Interviewer : BR

* Observer(s) : _____

* _____

* Date : 29/10/85

* Starting time : 0908 hours, local

* Site # : 146

* Acquisition by: (CRV) ERV PRV ARV BRV Other _____

* Working mode : (CTP) IEM Other _____

* Feedback class: A (B) C .

773 281
578 146

* Ending time : 1140 hours, local

* Notes : OUTSTANDING DETAILS

* Highest stage : 6

* Evaluation : +

* Actual site : DALIN ART GALLERY, THORNS MINERAL ROOMS

* RV summary : See page 6, 11 and 21

Paul
Fr. Meade
ms 29 Oct 88
0908

773 281
578146

Confusion break

773 281
578146

A. across how

B. land

A. along and along angle

solid

B. structure

A. across
flat

waves
fluv

B. water

A. rising
angle
over

solid

B. structure

S. 2
grainy
greyish cool mossy sand
color moist dripping sound

comparison bk

smooth
solid
stone broad massive dense
broad
fall wide
AZ BK
repeated feel interesting

Site is land with ^{and} ~~water~~ ^{water} manmade structures. Structures in at least one very dense + solid, massive, broad, wide, + relatively ~~to~~ high in ~~proportion~~ relation to me.

KE BL
good feeling

5-2 D AI EI T I A/L A/S green
grey rough mossy

rounded massive long

5 furbay

Sketch

A/L Bk
like basalt

Grads

A/L Bk
reminds me of peruvian
rivers

Extension goes on for a long way

underground

underground

S-2

D

AJ

EJ

T

I

ADL

AL/S

warm
light

corridors

changes direction

Reboring
sounds

outside

~~Group~~ Sample

ADL/S
seconds empty

ADL BLK
Vents

Scrubber

↑
#/S

S-2

D

AZ

EI

T

I

W/L

black grey

Several

Substructure

ADL Simul
Substructures

many things in area

bc like Dolmen

horway

stone
construction

people

1 ~~working~~

red shirt

working

care taking maintenance

engrossed

S-2

D

A I

E I

I
A/C

A/S

town

here

A/C Bk
wood

structure

white

erased surrounded

set off

quiet

administered

clean

A/C Bk
castle in Switzerland
municipal office

S2

D
long established

AI

EI

T

I

long established

AOZ

AS

AOZ BK
Colonial
settlement admin. by Park Soc.

Flowing
Water

AOZ BK
my AK
seaport

Interim Summary

Site 13 Stone construction, w/ an underground component, extensive in area and possessing both an enclosed and surrounded feel. Many objects of stone or other dense material are in the area. People present who seem to be engaged in caretaking or maintenance & are engrossed in their work. ~~Large~~ Extensive lawns are present and a structure, probably of stone with windows, suggestive of a house is present in the area. Structure has 2 levels, stairs, & several rooms.

S-2 D AI EI T I HL A/S old

Musty
cool slightly darker

HL BK
it's like it's well cared for but was seen long & varied use

rooms

BK BK
reminds of a "living museum"

administrative feel

Screen
door

center of interest

respect

Venerable
because of people associated w/ it

SVI

13

S-2

D H I E I T I A L A S

green
pen

two level or stairs

inside spacious

not empty

A S monument

AOL Bk
Carriage
rail wooden stairs

AOL Bk
wakes me think of the Civil War

AOL Bk
"George Wash.
Slept here"

AOL Bk

Handwritten scribbles and marks at the bottom right corner.

SUP

S-2 D AII EI T I AOC VLS

upper floor

light/bright

~~space~~

AsL Bk
large, spacious bright, lit
meeting place
in hall

AsL Bk
elephant trunks

inside
upper level

~~rounded~~ rounded
blade

AsL Bk
antique car

Somebody
being displayed

AsL Bk
paintings

Objects manufactured
utilitarian technical

AsL Bk
Industrial Revolution
stuff

SIT

S-2

D

AZ

EI

T

I

AdL

AS

18th/19th cent. feel

"modern but
old"

"modern but
old"

insects leaving

AdL BK
almost like a textile mill

furniture antique

Object

Colors

S-2

D

AJ

EJ

T

I

AsL

AsS

AsL Bk
old artillery
piece

room

wood floor

dim

chinked logs

window

~~old~~ wavy
glass

for Bk
old glass

•

A

AsS
wanted
Five pks

literature

AsL Bk
Colonial

AsL Bk
old church
w/ graveyard

STU

S.2

D

A2

EI

T

I

HOL

ALS

ASL BK

"Model living room," like period museum
"how people lived"

- Upholstered chairs, wooden furniture fireplace, oil lamps etc.

intricate details
 objects
 emanations?
 apparatus
 pipes
 wires
 wood
 metal equipment

intricate details
 artistic butts emanations?

blue
 red copper
 brown
 soft

fuzzy wooden
 glass smooth
 complex decorative functional small delicate interwoven interlinked

 connected reciprocating moving gemütlich
 overstuffed
 lighted interwoven
 arranged
 round angular

rectangular unobtrusive

domestic electrical coiled elaborate manly tuffest
grey
pleasant smells bequeath ornate waved painted embossed needlepoint

intricate detail
subjects
enumerations?
display
demonstration
education
functioning
accomplishment historical scientific

intricate detail
topics
enumerations?
carving
Egypt
19th Cent.

Small
Objects
emanations?

Figures
models people
miniatures
artifacts
tools implements

Small
attributes emanations }

light
scale delicate
tiny precise iron
fragile valuable interesting decorative
porcelain
fabrics
aesthetic

Small Subjects
emanations?
modeling
demonstrating collecting displaying Americans -
Carrier + lives -

Small
topics
enumeration?
Scrimsban

Summary

On the top floor of ~~the~~ structure at site are displays & demonstration ~~of~~ ^{of} objects ^{involving intricate detail,} ~~such as antique furniture~~ Such as antique furniture, 18th + 19th century articles, ~~are~~ manufactured, utilitarian, technical, decorative objects.

Display ^{consists} ~~consist~~ of a bunch of little things connected by some sort of a theme

The following have significance to the ~~set~~ display:
delicate, ~~are~~ carved, intricate, "fingerwork" textiles, fabrics, porcelain, ivory, crafts,

Seems like time is sort of frozen. Impression of old photographs;

end
'
sit

11:40

Each of the nine Thorne Miniature Rooms at Knoxville's Dulin Gallery of Art portrays a various style of European or American design.

A Miniature Look At Grand Design

At Knoxville's Dulin Gallery of Art, it's hard to resist the temptation to press your nose right up against the glass of the Thorne Miniature Rooms exhibit. Here, every inch represents a foot. There are railings to lean against as you study the tiny details. There are even step stools for young visitors to stand on. Obviously, the gallery encourages these moments of looking, moments that are worth the effort.

The mood in this upstairs room of the Dulin brings back memories of childhood dollhouses. But this is art, or more specifically, it is a study of various eras of American and European decorative styles. You see a Federal dining room, a Victorian parlor, a New England bedroom, an American summer kitchen, and even a room from 16th-century Spain. The range is broad. And so was the collection of miniature furniture and accessories assembled by Mrs. James Ward Thorne, the woman whose hobby led to the creation of these tiny rooms in the early 1930's.

Mrs. Thorne always thought in small terms, although the impact of her miniature rooms is grand. As a child, she doted on dollhouses. As a young girl, she collected 18th-century furniture samples, themselves executed in miniature so traveling salesmen could easily display their lines. And as an adult traveler, Mrs. Thorne scoured both sides of the Atlantic for anything of diminutive proportions: antique in patterns, everyday remnants of lacy wrought iron, and even colorful box tops that could be made into important details of the period rooms. When reality failed her, imagination took over. You'll see that some curtains are actually delicate linen handkerchiefs. A rug here and there was snipped from a petit point evening bag. A statuesque bust, poised atop a pedestal base, was once the ivory chess queen on a game board. And the candles are just tips of kitchen toothpicks, painted white.

It's almost impossible to single out the improvised appointments from the many items skillfully created by master craftsmen. Stunning scaled-down reproductions of Chinese Chippendale and Duncan Phyfe pieces are intermingled with mahogany furnishings copied from Metropolitan Museum of Art collections. Tiny blue-and-white delft pottery items, a little Toby jug, and ivory-handled cutlery are perfect in their resemblance to real-life counterparts.

When Mrs. Thorne first assembled her treasures into their proper groupings, there were 29 scenes in all. In 1962, the Dulin acquired nine rooms from the original set of Thorne Miniatures, becoming the only gallery in the Southeast to own part of the collection. Other rooms may be seen in Phoenix and Chicago.

The miniature rooms are only part of the Dulin's story, though. Down the gallery's winding staircase with its red velvet handrail is an elegant entry foyer, with rooms shooting off in four directions. Here, the works of masters are rotated with the artistic accomplishments of regional painters and craftspeople. The artwork is displayed much as it would have been when the wealthy Dulin family first occupied this Neoclassical house back in 1917.

Mrs. Eugenia Bell Dulin commissioned noted architect John Russell Pope to design her dream home on a bluff overlooking a slight bend in the Tennessee River. Pope, who also designed the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., never visited Tennessee to see the Dulin's finished house.

But the people of Knoxville have gotten to know and admire the house. Mrs. Dulin proudly entertained there—one diarist of the era reported that the newly completed home was known to all as the "exposition palace." Following her death in 1961, Mrs. Dulin's heirs decided to truly carry out the exposition palace theme, opening the building to East Tennesseans for use as a regional art center. Today, Eugenia Bell Dulin's portrait occupies a prominent spot in the home she loved, greeting visitors and seeming to sense their delight as they wander through its collections of art.

To learn more, write the Dulin Gallery of Art, 3100 Kingston Pike, Knoxville, Tennessee 37919; or call (615) 525-6101.

A miniature look at an American summer kitchen of the late 1800's shows such details as a good