AFTERNOON

Session Summaries

SITE I: O'Hare Airport, Chicago, Illinois ✓

..... at no time did I get the perception of a airport, airplanes, or even any structures..... this site seemed like a vast empty wasteland..... there was a rocking, rolling motion to this site that created an A.I. of motion which created a very mild ~~now~~ feeling of nausea and vertigo.... like being on a roller coaster..... this is about the 3rd time that I have completely missed an airport..... don't know why, I love to travel especially by air.

SITE II: TITAN (a moon of Saturn)

..... don't know quite what to say about this one.... perceived a structure that was very difficult to describe... it seemed very tall and had a lot of confusing angles about it.... inside was a spiral staircase descending from the top down to a balcony or platform where three very human ~~being~~ looking beings were at some sort of control panel. Two males were seated at the panel which had numerous lighted buttons and several screens that reminded me of something like a radar scope. The males appeared to be technicians and the female who stood behind them, observing appeared to be something like a researcher or scientist. She appeared to be of average height, dark brown hair to the shoulders, and was wearing a pale green lab coat or smock..... When moved to a position 30,000 miles above the structure there was a large round body visible which appeared to ^{have} a pale greenish halo around it and many rays of yellow/white emanating from it. In the background and to the left of this body was another circular body with rings around it.... such as Saturn..... there is a lingering feeling that this site is some sort of observatory or observation post.
