MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Science and Technology

SUBJECT: Joint US-USSR Arms Control and Disarmament
Study Group (Associated with PUGWASH)

1. The first meeting of the Joint US-USSR Arms Control and Disarmament Study Group, an offshoot of the Pugwash Conference, will take place from 7-20 June 1964 in both Dedham and Cambridge, Massachusetts. This Group was formed in order to bring together a small number of carefully selected participants to intensively study important technical topics with much more continuity and privacy than is possible under the Pugwash arrangement.

2. Professor Paul Doty of Harvard, present Chairman of the Joint Study Group, informed this Office of the following planned agenda:

a. Collective efforts (by the US, USSR and other groups) to prevent the further spread of nuclear weapons.

b. The relation of anti-missile systems to the disarmament process.

c. An evaluation of the usefulness and implementation of a cut-off in the production of fissionable materials for weapons use and the subsequent scheduling of stockpile reduction.

3. The Arms Control and Disarmament Agency will brief the US participants on 2 June 1964 at the Hotel Madison, Washington, D. C.
