SUGGESTION AWARDS COMMITTEE SPECIAL PANEL OF THE CLANDESTINE SERVICES MEETING, 28 March 1968

SUGGESTION NO. [] dated 27 June 1967
CARANCI, John C., GS-11
Technologist
Clandestine Services []

SUBJECT: [] Making Machine

A. Summary of Suggestion

1. Background

Two rubber torque spindles located on the cutter set-up assembly of the key making machine were designed to transfer the cutter segments in alignment with segments located in [] set-up block. This is done by using a sharp [] with the other hand.

2. Suggestion

The suggester proposed that the [] be removed from the cutter set-up assembly. The operator then transfers form segments into appropriate keyway slots of a sample key using a sharp pick. Segment tightening screws are tightened and the key set-up block placed in position with the cutter spindles by pushing on rear of cutter blades. Cutter blade segments can then be transferred into alignment with the key set-up block segments.

B. Evaluations

1. [] said that [] machines (cost [] each) have been shipped to major field stations with the modifications as recommended by the suggester. All future key machines will incorporate the suggester's proposal.

2. By removing the torque spindle and associated cutter and blade holders a total of pieces can be omitted from future key machines. Also the possibility of error is lessened in adjusting the cutter blades and less time is required to set-up the machine.

C. Special Panel Recommendations

1. Not in line of duty. Modification of equipment is beyond Mr. Caranci's job expectancy.

2. $50 Interim Award. Review after one year to determine possible added value when key machines are re-ordered.
