We have no need for him at present. Colonel Lowman has got a need for him. Barmine is quite definitely a possibility for SI translation work when and if he finished with Lowman, but before we were to take on for such a purpose we would want to know his command of English, but doubtless that can be ascertained while he is in Lowman's employ. From my talk with Lowman I gather that he is inclined to give him not temporary, but permanent employment.
