Miss Dockery

Lt. Col. Grombach

Lt. Col. Grombach called twice this morning asking for his letter of commendation. I sent a copy of the one he wanted and a suggested one to Col. Goodfellow.

He called back a third time after talking with his Chief, Col. Smith, and was told that Col. Goodfellow said the letter would be forthcoming after all matters pertaining to his operations for SO were completed. He stated that Col. Smith wanted in writing the length of time we would require his services.

If Col. Goodfellow wishes to comply with this request, the following is all that will be necessary:

1. That Col. Grombach be at Bellmore only to turn over his papers and the inventory list on Monday.
2. That he be available if necessary for conferences here in Washington at his own convenience for a period of from two weeks to thirty days at most. These conferences will be short and will take up little of his time.
3. That the trip to the West Coast can be handled without him.
