

APPROVED FOR RELEASE BY THE
CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY
DATE: 2001

Draft of 9 April 1947.

A BILL FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A
CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY.

Sec. 1 (a). National security council.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, as follows:

SEC. 1. (a) DECLARATION OF POLICY.

Sec. 1. (a) Findings and Declaration:

In enacting this legislation, it is the intent of Congress to provide a comprehensive and continuous program which will effectively accomplish the national intelligence objectives of the United States. In order to achieve these objectives, it is necessary to establish a permanent, centralized, intelligence agency, so that all the foreign intelligence sources and facilities of the Government may be utilized to the fullest extent in the production of foreign intelligence, and so that their greatest potentialities may be realized most efficiently and economically, with a resultant elimination of unproductive duplication and unnecessary overlapping of functions. It shall govern the intelligence. Accordingly, it is hereby declared to be the policy of the people of the United States that in order to strengthen the hand of the Government in formulating national policies and conducting relations with other nations, and subject at all times to the paramount objectives of assuring the common defense and security, the foreign intelligence activities, functions, and services of the Government be fully coordinated, and, when military life be the President, by and with the advice determined in accordance with the provisions of this Act, be operated centrally for the accomplishment of the national intelligence objectives of the United States.

(b) There shall be a Deputy Director of the Agency, appointed from civilian or military life by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Deputy Director shall receive compensation at the rate of $14,000 per annum. The Deputy Director shall be authorized to sign such letters, papers, and documents,

SEPARABILITY OF PROVISIONS

Section 6. If any provision of this Act, or the application of such provision to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the remainder of this Act, or the application of such provision to persons or circumstances other than those as to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected thereby.
