FBI INTELLIGENCE LETTER

August 17, 1970

South African Embassy employee recruited as "Mata Hari" by Cuban official at the United Nations. Under the direction of the First Secretary of the Cuban Mission to the United Nations, Rogelio Rodriguez Lopez, Jennifer Enid Miles, 26-year-old attractive blonde secretary at the South African Embassy, became intimate with a U.S. State Department protocol officer. This gained her access to official social functions in Washington, D. C., including events for visiting heads of state held at Blair House.

Miles passed information of interest about her contacts, including biographical data on Americans she met, to the Cuban official through a dead drop in the garden of a fashionable New York apartment building. She has admitted her sordid activities to the FBI and with the cooperation of the South African Embassy Miles voluntarily left the U.S. on August 10, 1970. The Department of State has been asked to consider appropriate action against the Cuban official involved

Seattle Liberation Front prepares to cause violent confrontation with American Legion Convention in Portland, Oregon, during the People's Army Jamboree. A source learned from the editor of an underground newspaper that a unit of this violence-prone group supposedly obtained powerful firecrackers to blow out plate glass windows. Other Front units are reportedly collecting spray cans of oven cleaner to use against police during the Jamboree.
