|  LIV Bavaria LIV Basnia  1. The BfV have had occasion to coordinate certain aspects of their investigations of Vladimir PEKELSKY and Dr. Karl POKORNY with CAVIRIL. The matter was first taken up by the BfV's Eric WENGER with  some months ago. When WENGER mentioned the names of these two personalities  immediately asked that he discuss the matter with CAVIRIL's HOFMANN. The latter was very evasive and, in general, tried to persuade WENGER to abandon any interest which he might have in POKORNY and PEKELSKY. WENGER came away from the meeting with the distinct impression that CAVIRIL was in some way operationally involved with one or both of these gentlemen; however, he was unable to get a satisfactory story from HOFMANN. Finally, on the occasion of a CE conference at the BfV during the week of 19 June, WENGER raised the matter again with  stating that he expected an honest answer from CAVIRIL. After some hesitation  finally admitted that PEKELSKY is employed by CAVIRIL in an agent capacity. From remarks made by , WENGER could only conclude that PEKELSKY is employed for positive collection and not for CE purposes. 2. The BfV's next move has not yet been determined. WENGER made it plain that the BfV is determined to clear up the case but, in order to preclude squabbles on the working level it may be necessary for SCHRUEBBERS to discuss the case with STURM.    | | | |
