Dear Sir:

Your letter of 29 April 1951 has been referred to this office for action, because Ordnance Division has the procurement responsibility for detonators, range finders, etc.

At the present time the manufacture of component parts for such instruments is prohibited by Allied High Commission Law #24, dated 30 March 1950, titled: "Control of certain articles, products, installations and equipment."

If and when present regulations are revised to permit the manufacture of component parts of military equipment in Germany, you will be contacted by our representative.
