* Excerpt of pertinent information : Association received money from Gen. RADESCU.

The Association of Combatants at Paris was started by General Bagulescu in 1948. . . The association received small sums from General Radescu and up to now has done nothing but hold a few meetings composed of members completely lacking in "combat spirit." In general, the association is composed of unproved members among which have slipped suspect and doubtful elements. . . In connection with the role played by Holbein (Veniamin) in the matter mentioned in my report of 21 June: I have been unable to confirm that the association, formed at the suggestion of the contopistilor (French) contained heterogenous elements, but that this association is on the way toward realizing, with the approval of Egon (Radescu) and local folk, an activity serious enough to be considered. Through the diplomatic pouch Egon receives regular reports from national resistance groups inside Rumania. . .
