That's great, and I'll keep the afternoon as flexible as I can. You might want 45 minutes, since he'll be reading through about 25 pages of text. Also, we now have draft of the [redacted] the book, [redacted] he couldn't (b)(3) remember! Fortunately, others did.) That's only 1,500 words, but they will be new to him. And that's the totality of the discussion of these topics in the book.

OK, you are penciled in for 2-2:30. But you know how this works; you might slide a bit either way, so if you could keep that flexibility it would be great. Thanks so much, David - Didi

Can you keep 2-4 on Monday free? That looks like the best shot.

Hi Didi,

Yes, as I said in the last note, can't let a full chapter escape my hands. But happy to go through it with him. I can make Monday work. Up in Cambridge Tuesday and Weds. Can you see if he's got some time on Monday?

cheers,

David

David – I am assuming the Higher Authority doesn't want to let the full chapter out of your custody. Can we go ahead and set up some time to circle back with Michael, because I am sure he is going to want to step through text to make sure that the information, when viewed holistically, does not close off options.

I've confirmed that Michael will be back M-Th of next week. Can you let me know about your available on those days? Thanks, Didi
